Way to spank yourself stupid, there. First you protest that you're not homophobic at all, then you fucking /prove/ it, and at length, too.

"WRONG! The plays of Aristophanes prove that the overwhelming majority of Athenians were straight and idiogenogamotics were ridiculed as either being effeminate or only doing kologamosis in return for political or financial favours. If this was not so then Aristophanes would not have mocked the politicians in the front seats as boy fuckers (kologamosis with young boys will illegal in ancient Athens and those engaging in it were banned from holding elected office) or made numerous bum gags, or brought naked girls on stage for an all male audience to represent peace or written plays featuring female prostitutes. Hellenistic romantic fiction such as the Aethiopica also disproves your claims that women were only regarded as baby making machines. Menanders Dyskolos also disproves your claims as does book 3 of Apollonius Argonougtica and Euripides Hellen. Kolofilia was nothing more than masturbation. Just ask yourself why it was only with a man and adolescent boy. Because it was easier for the giver to think the receiver was a young girl than if it was with a man the same age. "Varnisher" Vanier, another "Living Christ"; Damaeus, the paedophile apologist/Satanist who isn't either of those things, no really, but what's wrong with them anyway?...; and all the Offices except AUK Mascot, plus three Salinger nominees (not JD -- Pierre), Kadaitcha Man, Snuhwolf, and a NY Times journalist, Matt Schwartz. Feel free to forward this to more groups, but don't snip anything if you do.

the man would not know a fact if it hit in the face after all IF a Bisexaul like myself were truly mnetaly defective why would it be wrong to admit to being homophobic, being homophobioc woould NOBLE in that case the fact is clearly he does not even belive his own rethoric

Now, even Mark has to admit that this was good!
Impersonating a Dyslexic, any Dyslexic, involves no small amount of native talent.

This guy is good. Very good. He sounds more like Mark than Mark.

PRESS RELEASE: From the Desk of Martti Laine, OH2BH
For immediate release
September 1, 2008

UPDATE ON THE REPUBLIC OF KOSOVO

Many have been wondering what the status with regard to the Republic of Kosovo is as of today, both in general and in amateur radio terms specifically. Substantial progress has been made, and a new approach to get Kosovo totally on its own feet is well on its way. The United Nations (UNMIK) has scaled down its administrative role while the European Union (EULEX) has initiated its supporting role to help integrate the "interim administration" functions into the local institutions.

The United Nations Frequency Management Office (FMO) is one of those local institutions. This Office was responsible for authorizing Amateur Radio operations before and after the Kosovar declaration of independence, but as of today the FMO does not exist nor are licenses issued. You may still hear some stations operating as YU8 since those licenses issued in the past have not been specifically terminated.

Undoubtedly, Kosovo as a "country" has all required country requirements; (A) a defined territory, (B) a permanent population and (C) a government and (D) is capable of interacting with other countries with whom it has established diplomatic relations. As of today, the Republic of Kosovo is recognized by 46 countries representing many leading states and all geographical continents.

From an Amateur Radio and DXCC perspective, a great deal of confusing discussion has taken place; one side argues that the DXCC criteria needs to be honored at all times. Others see the criteria as not being engraved on a tablet of stone but that the rules facilitate "entities" dynamically in the context of an ever-changing world. Both views have some merit and should be appreciated.

Western Sahara (SO), another disputed DXCC country, is currently recognized by 48 countries and even today it is not a member of the United Nations nor does it have a dedicated ITU prefix. At the time Amateur Radio entered this desert country, no one had argued that it belonged to DXCC. When Swains Island was up for DXCC discussion it was decided that the DXCC criteria had to be changed and so Swains entered the scene. Swains was added not decades ago - but just recently.

Before Swains Island, DXCC used three "measuring sticks"; UN membership, ITU prefix or IARU society. In facilitating Swains, the ARRL Board of Directors decided to keep the UN and ITU parts but changed the IARU rule to recording of an event by the US Department of State, which again opened up another gate for more DXCC entities.

Now Kosovo meets the highest US Department of State criteria - Kosovo is an independent state recognized by the United States and easily passes the US State Department gate, if that gate is honored in the right spirit. With DXCC rules in place as they existed before Swains, Kosovo would enter through the IARU gate because of its permanent amateur radio population and its national society, SHRAK.

The above is just an illustration of the dynamics of the DXCC at any given time, following the dynamics of the world.

The world outside Kosovo abounds with many other examples that offer a slightly different perspective in the international arena. Another oft-mentioned entity - Northern Cyprus - is recognized only by Turkey, and the situation regarding Cyprus remains deadlocked. Two new cases - South Ossetia and Abkhazia - are recognized by the Russian Federation and probably soon by Belarus (EW) and Venezuela (YV). If they ever achieve wider recognition apart from the countries subject to the current conflict, they will become another set of DXCC candidates.

An immediate UN membership gate is pointed more in the direction of those that get themselves established with no gun fire. The UN's potential for resolving conflicts to its own satisfaction is seriously hampered by the Security Council veto structure that plays a major role in eliminating new countries at that gate.

So, the ARRL is left to define a workable recognition based country criteria - be it qualitative and/or quantitative. Kosovo with its almost 50 recognitions is the first one at the gate. Delaying action on the Republic of Kosovo so that it does not qualify for anything is not an option for the ARRL. Kosovo is a country with a permanent amateur radio population and therefore Kosovar amateurs should be welcomed to our community.

Back to the practical world; YU8/OH2R QSLs for the first amateur radio operation from the Republic of Kosovo were printed last week by Gennady, UX5UO and they will be in the mails in a few days. We thank Gennady for his efforts and support in making these full-color cards meet the spirit of the Kosovo case as they represent a special moment for those involved with the Kosovo project and those who follow world events as well as the development of the DXCC program.

You can view these cards at http://www.dailydx.com/Kosovo.htm

You may read more about YU8/OH2R and Kosovo at www.n4gn.com/yu8/

PJ2, NETHERLANDS ANTILLES (Last Minute Announcement). NODXA member Goose, W8AV, will be on the Island of Curacao (SA-006, WLOTA LH-0942) from the PJ2T Signal Point station signing PJ2/W8AV, September 3-10th. He plans to be on CW and RTTY (he will try to emphasize RTTY on this trip). This is an antenna maintenance trip, so he will only be on the air as time permits and his operating times may be somewhat limited.

Rules of New Mexico, West Texas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, North Nevada, Arizona, and the rest of the Wild West are as follows:

1. Pull your pants up. You look like an idiot.

2. Turn your cap right, your head ain't crooked.

3. Let's get this straight: it's a 'gravel road.' No matter how slow you drive, you're gonna get dust on your Lexus. Drive or get out of the way.

4. They are cattle. That's why they smell like cattle. They smell like money to us. Don't like it? I-10, I-40, I-80 & I-90 go east and west, I-25 & I-15 go north and south. Pick one.

5. So you have a $60,000 car. We're not impressed. We have $250,000 Combines that are driven only 3 weeks a year.

6. Persons in the Wild West wave. It's called being friendly. Try to understand the concept.

7. If that cell phone rings while a bunch of geese/pheasants/ducks/doves are comin' in during the hunting season, we WILL shoot it outa your hand. You better hope you don't have it up to your ear at the time.

8. We eat trout, salmon, deer and elk. You really want sushi and caviar? It's available at the corner bait shop.

9. The 'Opener' refers to the first day of deer season. It's a religious holiday held on the closest Saturday to the first of November.

10. We open doors for women. That applies to all women, regardless of age.

11. There's no 'vegetarian special' on the menu. Order steak, or you can order the Chef's Salad and pick off the 2 pounds of ham and turkey.

12. When we fill out a table, there are three main dishes: meats, vegetables, and breads. We use three spices: salt, pepper, and ketchup, and 'Red and Green' Chili! Oh, yeah .. We don't care what you folks in Cincinnati call that stuff you eat... IT AIN'T REAL CHILI!!

13. You bring 'Coke' into my house, it better be brown, wet and served over ice. You bring 'Mary Jane' into my house, she better be cute, know how to shoot, drive a truck, and have long hair.
14. College and High School Football is as important here as the Giants, the Yankees, the Mets, the Lakers and the Knicks, and a dang site more fun to watch.

15. We do have golf courses. But don't hit the water hazards - it spooks the fish.

16. Turn down that blasted car stereo! That thumpity-thump crap ain't music, anyway. We don't want to hear it anymore than we want to see your boxers! Refer back to #1 & 2!

A true Westerner will send this to their friends and a few new found friends that probably won't get it, but we're friendly so we share in hopes you can begin to understand what a real life is all about!

Hey, as long as you're frogging him anyway, Woger (if you aren't Woger,

Even if that were so, Other Fake Mark, it'd be a step up from thinking about Mark's cock all the time, as you clearly do. Obsession with gay sex is, after all, superior to obsession with gay sex with someone who is unavailable. However, it's not so -- I think about politics, TV, RuneScape, other kooks, Kookpedia, the Kingdom of Loathing, and both gay and straight sex, among other things.

Bullshit is right, you must be out of your fucking mind if you think that anyone on here wants you. You are a dirty obtuse obese slob. Someone needs to strap you to the hood of a fucking car and run you through a carwash about a dozen times and then send you off to a Richard Simmons Fat Camp.

Besides, your defective tool can't even make a child that your wife's body won't automatically abort. But then again, it just proves my point that you Gay/Bi sexual types have sex on the brain 24/7, and further proves my belief that all gay and bisexual males lust after young boys, and would pick that forbidden fruit if it weren't not for the laws blocking such behavior.

You are the one slurping his schlong ibn public, hypocrite.

> (if you aren't Woger,

Doubtful, you and your queer buddy Marqueer see your owner everwhere and erroneously call everybody "woger" (which is a racial slur) because you lisp.. Besides, hypocrite, why don't you "reveal" yourself first? Cowardly hypocrite.

Now you're combining one of Hatter's posts with mine. That's damn k00ky.
In fact, since you've recently referred to me as "Leslie Paulin", and have now returned to the "Snarky is Matthew" scenario...

Named for the most-spanked person in the history of the Internet, Wilhelm Palmer (Bill Palmer, aka "Palmjob"), the self-styled Flame Giant who has never won a single flamewar in his existence. This award is given to the person who gets spanked (as in, thrashed) the most in a given month, be it by their opponents or even their own hand.

I do hereby nominate the Mark Morgan Fan Club for the Palmjob Paddle, for the mighty self-spanking they have just delivered to themselves.

Seconds?

Socrates taught his students that the pursuit of truth can only begin once they start to question and analyze every belief that they ever held dear. If a certain belief passes the tests of evidence, deduction, and logic, it should be kept. If it doesn't, the belief should not only be discarded, but the thinker must also then question why he was led to believe the erroneous

It is what happened, after you screwed the club out of the tower

Hail Eris! mhm 29x21; TM#5
The God of Odd Statements
Stupidity Takes Its Toll. Please Have Exact Change.

Thread where outing begins: http://tinyurl.com/hojf8
George Pickett Memorial Award nominee <wfh_jr@hotmail.com> on outing personal contact info in x-poasted subject lines:
"Plenty of people post under their real names and do not attempt to hide their contact info. You are scared of being 'outed' because you are a pathological abuser of usenet, and people rightly despise you for it. You're afraid of being reported to the authorities or, better, visited by a couple of guys with baseball bats. Other people don't have this obsessive fear. Ward Hardman himself has posted plenty of personal information - nothing that anyone else added was hidden in any way. You're so fucking scared you've built up this whole sick mythology about different categories of bad dudes who 'out' scum like you.

"Meanwhile you are the ugliest pigfucker in the universe. You are the coward without ethics. You call me a 'newbie' - ha! what an asshole you are. Those who want to remain anonymous do so. There is absolutely no way you could identify me, not unless you had the sort of subpoena power that only gets turned on for big-time terrorists. That's because I chose to be anonymous. Some people don't. Only really stupid dicks like you choose the sort of semi-anonymity which leaves you in constant fear.

"What a dickless wonder you are 'Snarky' you fat asshole."

I have never posted as Mark Morgan, ever. You do it all the time. You _can't stop_ sucking him off. You're addicted to being Mark Morgan (except when you're being me, and you have a Pickett nomination for that -- I assume you know who Gen. George Pickett was, and what he's famous for doing (Clue: Cemetery Ridge)). You could only endure stopping for long enough to switch over to a frog of moi (assuming you're not <konstaan> -- if you're him, then I laugh once more at your protest that you're not homophobic).

Really, is he on Ham Radio? I've never heard Mark on the air. Usenet is a forgotten shithole being held on to and defended by a few relic kooks such as yourself.
You and Mark look like two flies arguing over a piece of dog shit, and I am the dog. Your insignificant postings on RRAP just add a bit more fodder to the melee.

Nevertheless, usenet does have its uses, such as keeping kooks like you and Mark busy and away from the legitimate users of the internet.
The few snippets I post here to keep Mark's kooky brain festering serves its purpose in the long term. Although slow to come, the desired results are eventually achevied. He is just too stupid to see it coming, like a deer frozen staring at the headlights of an oncoming

George Phillips of Meridian, Mississippi was going up to bed when his wife told him that he'd left the light on in the garden shed, which she could see from the bedroom window.

George opened the back door to go turn off the light but saw that there were people in the shed stealing things. He phoned the police, who asked 'Is someone in your house?'

He said 'NO' Then they said that all patrols were busy, and that he should simply lock his door and an officer would be along when available.

George said, 'Okay,' hung up, counted to 30, and phoned the police again. 'Hello, I just called you a few seconds ago because there were people stealing things from my shed.

Well, you don't have to worry about them now because I just shot them.' Then he hung up.

Within five minutes six police cars, a SWAT Team, a helicopter, two fire trucks, a paramedic and an ambulance showed up at the Phillips' residence and caught the burglars red-handed.

One of the Policemen said to George: ' I thought you said that you'd shot them!

'George said, 'I thought you said there was nobody available!'

I LOVE IT

Don't mess with old people.

I don't know if you know this, but you can now purchase Kosher computers! They are made in Israel by a company called DELL-SHALOM. The price is so low... even with the shipping from Israel! However, before you purchase a kosher computer of your own, you should know that there are some important changes from the typical non-kosher computer you are used to, such as:

1) The 'Start' button has been replaced with a 'Let's go!! I'm not getting any younger!' button.

2) You hear 'Hava Nagila' during startup.

3) The cursor moves from right to left.

4) When Spell-checker finds an error it prompts, 'Is this the best you can do?'

5) When you look at erotic images, your computer says, 'If your mother knew you did this, she would die.'

6) It comes with a 'monitor cleaning solution' from Manischewitz that gets rid of all the 'schmutz und drek.'

7) When running 'Scan Disk' it prompts you with a 'You want I should fix this?' message.

8) After 20 minutes of no activity, your PC goes, 'Schloffen.'

9) The PC shuts down automatically at sundown on Friday evenings.

10) It comes with two hard drives - one for fleyshedik (business software) and one for milchedik (games).

11) Instead of getting a 'General Protection Fault' error, your PC now gets 'Ferklempt.'

12) The multimedia player has been renamed to 'Nu, so play my music already!'

13) When your PC is working too hard, you occasionally hear a loud 'Oy Gevalt!'

14) Computer viruses can now be cured with matzo ball soup.

15) When disconnecting external devices from the PC, you are instructed to 'Remove the cable from the PC's tuchus.'

16) After your computer dies, you have to dispose of it within 24 hours.

17) But best of all, if you have a kosher computer, you can't get SPAM...

A soldier ran up to a nun. Out of breath he asked, "Please may I hide under your skirt. I'll explain later. "

The nun agreed.

A moment later two Military Police ran up and asked, "Sister, have you seen a soldier?"

The nun replied, "He went that way."

After the MPs ran off, the soldier crawled out from under her skirt and said, "I can't thank you enough, Sister. You see, I don't want to go to Iraq."

The nun said, "I understand completely."

The soldier added, "I hope I'm not being rude, but you have a great pair of legs!"

The nun replied, "If you had looked a little higher, you would have seen a great pair of nuts... I don't want to go to Iraq either."
==========
The Harvard School of Medicine did a study of why Jewish women like Chinese food so much. The study revealed that this is due to the fact that Won Ton spelled backward is Not Now.

There is a big controversy on the Jewish view of when life begins. In Jewish tradition, the fetus is not considered viable until it graduates from medical school.

A Jewish boy comes home from school and tells his mother he has a part in the play. She asks, "What part is it?" The boy says, "I play the part of the Jewish husband." The mother scowls and says, "Go back and tell the teacher you want a speaking part."

Did you hear about the bum who walked up to a Jewish mother on the street and said "Lady, I haven't eaten in three days." "Force yourself," she replied.

I just got back from a pleasure trip. I took my mother-in-law to the airport.

Short summary of most Jewish holiday: They tried to kill us, we won, let's eat.

Funny that you replied twice...Anyway. I have been "Snarky", on- and offline, since nine years before my first at-home net.connection (October 1999). Furthermore, interested parties can find my legalname, if they really want to know it, but I don't, as a rule, use it for unofficial purposes. On my blogspot and my LJ, I'm "Snarky" or "Pope Snarky", on Yahoo (and OKCupid), I'm SnarkyC, on RuneScape, I'm Pope_Snarky, Doc_Savag3, PopeSnarky, S_N_A_R_K_Y, Snarky4_Life, and Sirsnarkalot, and on The Kingdom of Loathing, I'm Doc_Savag3. Everywhere else, I'm "Pope Snarky Goodfella, etc", or just the short form, aside from usenet, unless I've forgotten some old site. Who are you, if not Wiseman, since you so huffily assert that you are someone else?

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has

been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless
fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has
been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

"When I told Abbie Hoffman that he was the first one who made me laugh since Lenny Bruce died, Hoffman said, "Really? He was my god." The combination of satirical irreverence and sense of justice that Bruce and Hoffman shared was the real spirit behind the Yippies--a term I coined to describe a phenomenon that already existed: an organic coalition of stoned hippies and political activists who engaged in such actions as throwing money on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, then explaining to reporters the meaning of that symbolism. Folksinger Phil Ochs summed it up: "A demonstration should turn you on, not turn you off." So when journalists link the Yippies with misleading bedfellows, at best it's careless shorthand; at worst it's deliberate demonization. Osama bin Laden wanted an aircraft to crash into the Pentagon. Abbie Hoffman merely wanted to levitate it." -- Paul Krassner, http://tinyurl.com/ehu3v

209. PSYCHOPATH QUESTION

Read this question, come up with an answer and then scroll down to the bottom for the result. This is not a trick question. It is as it reads. No one I know has gotten it right-including me.

A woman, while at the funeral of her own mother, met this guy whom she did not know. She thought this guy was amazing, so much her dream guy she believed him to be just that! She fell in love with him right there, but never asked for his number and could not find him. A few days later she killed her sister.

Question:
What is her motive in killing her sister? (Give this some thought before you answer). SCROLL DOWN.

Answer:
She was hoping that the guy would appear at the funeral again. If you answered this correctly, you think like a psychopath. This was a test by a famous American Psychologist used to test if one has the same mentality as a killer. Many arrested serial killers took part in the test and answered the question correctly. If you didn't answer the question correctly good for you. If you got the answer correct, please let us know.

"You to acknowledge?" No wonder that you support the illiterate and kiddie fucker Morgan, your command of the English language is about the same, very poor. Maybe you could be his official itranslator for us, that is if you can squeeze it in between the times you are slurping his penis and anus.

TEH WAY OF THE K00K
Never learn from your mistakes.
Always practice your mistakes; you may get them right.
Always pick on those smarter and tougher than you.
Always believe that only you know the TRVTH.
Never allow logic or reason get in the way of a good k00k.
When being overwhelmed by logic and reason: k00ksuit!
If you are going to be wrong, do it at the top of your lungs.
When caught in a lie: LIE!
When in doubt: Order the Crab Won Ton
Plagiarism is your friend. Use it.
Whenever contradicted; morph, start calling people names, and make false accusations. Include the children of your target in your allegations, even if they don't have any.
(06-Jun-05) When nobody else will listen, post to your own fan group.
(06-Jun-05) Obviously, since you have your own fan group, this must mean that you have fans. Post prolifically to your fan group - you wouldn't want to disappoint them!
(10-May-2005)Everyone reads usenet. Approval here means approval everywhere.
Post numerous blank posts, or posts containing only a message id.
Post numerous copy&paste web articles from crackerpot websites.
Never forget to call kookologists "k00ks."
If there are several, call them "sockpuppets" too
When all else fails, accuse various and sundry kookologists of e-mailing viruses to you. This is a sure-fire method of garnering sympathy and ensuring that the General Public will always see things your way. An especially effective sub-strategy here is to accuse them of infecting you with the 'Sasser' worm via e-mail.

Quote notorious scientists or writers - it makes it look as if they approve the drivel you are writing!
(9-Jul-05) Anytime your computer is infected with a virus, bogged down by spyware, attacked over your internet connection, or otherwise suffers from preventable problems, government agencies are responsible and are trying to silence you and are monitoring your computer files.
Ignore all traffic signs and feel free to trespass, you don't have to obey any rules.
Scare your enemies with lawsuits, police escorts and whines.
Always back up your empty (albeit noisy) threats with phony LARTs, false police reports, and harassing letters to the FBI and other gubbermint agencies.
Be vigilant in your redundancy. The more you repeat yourself, the more likely others will believe you!
If you can't find anyone as crazy as yourself to support you in the flamewars you start with the normal population, create sock puppets and use anonymous remailers that shamelessly hang on every word you write.
(17-Mar-05) When dealing with law enforcement, remember that it is they who have the problem, not you. Be sure to inform them of this at every available opportunity, as they will surely appreciate your constructive criticism. Be sure to make them aware that YOU KNOW YOUR RIGHTS! ("The cops like that, when people know their rights. That way they don't have to read them to you on the way to the station." - George Carlin)
The more your fake personalities adulate you, the more respect you'll get!
When confronted with a reality that you don't like: Announce loudly that you are departing, never to return as long as there's an Internet. Come back in three or four days and claim you were drunk, hacked, abducted by alience, or forged. Alternately you can just not even mention your prior departure, and if anyone asks you about it, either ignore them or respond with something along the lines of "YOUR NOT THE BOSS OF ME! PLONK!" People really know you mean business then.
Always remain clueproof.
(20-Mar-05) Anyone who does not believe that you are the reincarnation of [$DEITY_OR_PROPHET] is obviously an infidel lacking in faith whose soul in in peril of everlasting damnation.
When responding to one line challenges, post paragraphs of rants and screed in response.
Incoherency is not a roadblock to poasting.
Neither is illiteracy.
Delusions poasted often enough become fact.
Claim you will destroy <insert newsfroup> for attacking you.
When spnaked, send cmsg for Fanboi newsfroup(s).
Find your Lame, Use your Lame, Be your Lame!
Post Edit when the TRVTH hurts.
Always sneck the offending newsfroups.
Always poast pictures of yourself so you can be admired in all your k00ky glory.

Always accuse others of the very acts you are guilty of.
Post lots of boasts about your high IQ and incredible talents.
(20-Mar-05) If you repeat a lie often enough, it becomes the truth.
Anybody who fails to understand this is engaged in a deliberate campaign of misinformation and character assassination.
Always <plonk> somebody just before replying the plonkee!
The k00k considers itself the most intelligent person in any conversation, possibly on the planet. Other people are benighted and ignorant, and have been waiting their whole lives for the k00k to rescue them from intellectual darkness.
Write a self-published book and claim it a success. Bonus points for comparing it to "Mein Kampf" and/or the Bible.
Declare yourself equal to a deity of your choice.
Claim that you've come from other planets.
Claim thousands of past lives.
Frothing complaints carry far more weight when you send them from "legal@" some domain.
Nothing strikes terror into the hearts of your detractors more than telling them that you're archiving their messages for possible use in the future.
Never forget that everyone else posting to Usenet is a paid disinformation agent looking to discredit you.
Usenet is governed by US law. If a poster in Romania killfiles you, he's obviously violating your 1st Amendment rights and can be sued.
Every news admin in the world hangs out in NANAU, and they're just dying to nuke the account of that meanyhead who just called you "fucknozzle".
Drop 'em a line - that's what they're there for, after all.
AUK will be closed down. Just you wait and see.
They've nuked hundreds of accounts in the name of free speech and yours will be next.
The k00k will, without any trace of irony, lie, manipulate, impersonate, censor, and declare themselves powerful in ways ranging from the ability to have an account shut down to being God Herself, in order to convince people that they are not liars, manipulators, censors, or insane.
Abuse women while telling how many hundreds you've loved. Nevermind that you're one ugly motherfucker and that there were 30,000 femininas that thought you were a scumbag with bad teeth.
Remember that your ko0ky klaims are 'facts', and that 'facts' do not require proof.
Do not neglect to poast your responses to forums that the originator doesn't read. This will make the people in that forum very impressed with how you tear him to shreds without him being able to respond. They like it even better if you are off-topic for that forum.
Keep in mind that lack of evidence supporting your konspiracy theory actually _is_ evidence, of how effective the konspiracy is in hiding.
(06-Oct-05) When spanked, always retreat to the safety of the Ad Hominem.
(04-Aug-2005) When spanked mercilessly for days on end, proving with each poast just what an illiterate and ignorant fool you are, ALWAYS claim ownership of [person(s),froup(s)]. This works on so many levels.

It inspires dread in your opponents that they will no longer be able to poast in their home froup and that they will eventually have to pay rent, to name just two.
Any problems with your poasts are the fault of the konspirators, who are trying to stop you from preventing the extinction of humanity.
Konspiracies that are able to subvert whole governments are always unable to silence konspiracy ko0ks.
The entire United States government is willing to spend millions of dollars for the sole purpose of harassing you.
Hollywood is making movies based on your personal life.
Do not consult psychiatrists or other mental health professionals. They are part of the konspiracy, and will sedate you and lock you away and keep you drugged if you tell them the truth.
Numerology and Astrology are respectable sciences and are useful for proving your case.
Everyone is Tim Hill, or David Green, or...
There is a fine line between trolling and kookery. Find that line and cross it repeatedly. When you are killfiled and/or LARTed for net.abuse as a result, claim victory. If you lose multiple accounts, this merely proves that you are indeed a world-class troll, with a black-belt in manipulation.
If you respond to every post someone else makes, they're obsessed. If they respond to less than 1% of your posts, they're even more obsessed.
Publishing people's real names, addresses, and phone numbers when there's no other way for you to come out of a flamewar with any dignity is cool, and proves that you are a master of secret internet information stores, and absolutely not to be fucked with.
Everyone is out to get you. You can put a stop to this by telling everyone that they're out to get you at every available opportunity.
You are the only sane one.
Those that give you a hard time about morally bankrupt things you yourself admit to are just persecutioners of the new inquisition.
Yelling in all caps and cursing at your detractors is debate. Your detractors laughing at you with sarcastic remarks is obvious anger and jealousy.
If doing something results in the loss of your account, legal hassles, or blunt trauma injury, do it again. It always works better the second time.
Asterisks, lots and lots of Asterisks.
Poking holes in kookscreed is stalking, and is a felony.

No, that would be your projection onto me, Mr. "I Look Up To Pee-Wee Herman". You have yet to get clear in your head as to whom you believe me to be -- me, I think you're Woger, you say you're "Someone Else", because you're afraid Mark or myself will dig up and post your personal info, along with records of your years of lameness, meaning you won't prove it due to extreme cowardice and hypocrisy, since you did exactly that to Mark.

If you respond to every post someone else makes, they're obsessed. If they respond to less than 1% of your posts, they're even more obsessed.
Publishing people's real names, addresses, and phone numbers when there's no other way for you to come out of a flamewar with any dignity is cool, and proves that you are a master of secret internet information stores, and absolutely not to be fucked with.

266. how do you talk on an open repeater? without getting kicked off by closed repeater owners?

How do you talk on an open repeater without getting kicked off by closed repeater owners?

There is a coordinaed closed repeater to the southeast of me. There is also a coordinated open repeater about the same distance to the north of me on the exact same frequency, however with a different pl tone.

If I try to talk on the open repeater, the owner of the closed will run me off since the frequecy is "reserved for only skywarn members of" his "closed repeater".

He already ran me off the frequency once for being on that frequency.

I thought the FCC rules say no amateur frequency is reserved for any one person or organization and that all amateur frequencies must be shared.

However, acording to certain people, just talking on that frequency is interfering with the closed repeater even if no one else is talking on the frequency, since it's reserved for only skywarn members of that particular closed repeater.
And the skywarn members might need to use it while you're talking.

the owner will listen without pl to make sure that no one is on his "private" frequency.

It wasn't even listed as closed in the repeater books, even though it is.

Interestingly enough, I listened for a week before(thinking it was open) and only heard a few people on it talking about useless non-important things. Nothing wrong with that.

But when we really did have severe bad weather, I did not hear any skywarn messages on that reepeater or frequency at all either before, during, or after the storm.

Although at the same time, I heard skywarn messages on a different repeater that the owner of the closed repeater was not a member of and did not participate in.

While skywarn is good, setting up a personal private closed repeater for only your few friends under the pretense of being a skywarn repeater is ..... reprehensible to say the least.

Now, which repeater has priority on that frequency? The coordinated closed repeater or the coordinated open repeater on the same frequency?

What gives the owner of the coordinated closed repeater the right to say I can't talk on the coordinated open repeater on the same frequency?

Especially when no one else is talking on the coordinated closed repeater or the frequency?

Dear Abby,
I am a twenty-three year old liberated woman who has been on the pill for two years. It's getting expensive and I think my boyfriend should share half the cost, but I don't know him well enough to discuss money with him.

Dear Abby,
I've suspected that my husband has been fooling around, and when confronted with the evidence, he denied everything and said it would never happen again.

Dear Abby,
Our son writes that he is taking Judo. Why would a boy who was raised in a good Christian home turn against his own?

Dear Abby,

Dear Abby,
My forty year old son has been paying a psychiatrist $50.00 an hour every week for two and a half years. He must be crazy.

Dear Abby,
I was married to Bill for three months and I didn't know he drank until one night he came home sober.

Dear Abby,
My mother is mean and short tempered I think she is going through mental pause.

Dear Abby,

You told some woman whose husband had lost all interest in sex to send him to a doctor. Well, my husband lost all interest in sex and he is a doctor. Now what do I do?

==> ARRL, AMATEUR RADIO GEARS UP FOR HANNA, IKE

As the ARRL Headquarters staff continues to support response and recovery efforts in Louisiana and the areas impacted by Hurricane Gustav, yet another storm begins to shift some of the focus eastward.
Tropical Storm Hanna, currently forecast to impact the North and South Carolina coastline early Saturday morning, has begun to activate ARES preparations from Florida northward. Hanna is responsible for at least

137 deaths in Haiti.

According to the National Weather Service (NWS), a hurricane watch is in effect from north of Edisto Beach, South Carolina to Okracoke Inlet. A tropical storm watch remains in effect from Edisto Beach southward to Altamaha Sound, Georgia. A tropical storm warning remains in effect for the Central and Northwestern Bahamas. A tropical storm watch means tropical storm conditions are possible within 36 hours.

ARRL Emergency Preparedness and Response Manager Dennis Dura, K2DCD, has begun to put protocols in place to support any of the ARRL Sections that may be impacted by Hanna. "We are beginning the coordination efforts with the individual Sections that could be on the receiving end of what is becoming an active storm season for the United States mainland. While Hanna currently remains a tropical storm, we must ensure that all Amateur Radio preparations are in place in case the storm turns into a hurricane."

According to ARRL North Carolina Section Manager Tim Slay, N4IB, hams in his state are ready for Hanna. "The Amateur Radio Station at the State Emergency Operations Center is ready to go. We will begin operating from there on Friday at 8 PM and go until about mid-day on Saturday or for however long is needed." Slay also said the Tarheel Emergency Net, the North Carolina HF ARES Net that meets on 3.923 MHz, has been tested and is prepared for the incoming storms.

Slay said that hams in his state have verified that the equipment is all in working order at the State Emergency Operations Center. The South Carolina Healthcare Emergency Amateur Radio Team (SCHEART) <http://www.scheart.us/> -- a system of strategically located repeaters linking 64 South Carolina hospitals by Amateur Radio, forming a statewide emergency communications network -- is also on alert.

ARRL South Carolina Section Manager Jim Boehner, N2ZZ, said South Carolina Governor Mark Sanford has called for a voluntary evacuation for those who live along that state's coastal areas. "It's incredibly important that we be prepared [for Hanna] and for people in areas that could be the most affected to be prudent," Governor Sanford said. "More than anything, this storm may serve as a reminder to everyone along the coast to be prepared for what could still come your way in this season. That means having a full tank of gas, a storm kit and an evacuation plan as these storms head our way."

Ballisty warned that people should not be fooled by Hanna's appearance. "It is important to note that one should not focus solely on [Hanna's] center of circulation," he said. "In fact, the worst of Hanna may not actually be found close to the center of circulation but rather away from it. Impacts such as tropical storm-force gusts, tropical downpours and very choppy surf will be felt hundreds of miles away from the center. That being said, the center of Hanna is projected to make landfall near the coastal South Carolina/North Carolina border, or perhaps just east of there, very early on Saturday morning."

After landfall, Hanna is expected to spread rain and breezy conditions up the mid-Atlantic and Northeast coast on Saturday, impacting several major cities. Due its rapid forward speed, the storm will not linger. Hanna will be exiting off the New England coast by as early as mid-morning Sunday. Rainfall totals are not expected to come anywhere close to what was seen with Hurricanes Fay or Gustav.

"If nothing else, [Hanna is] a good dress rehearsal for Ike if Ike were to come," said Peter Judge, a spokesman for the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency.

Fast on Hanna's heels, Ike is the third major hurricane of the 2008 Atlantic hurricane season; it is not yet threatening any land. A Category 4 hurricane on Thursday, Ike was downgraded to Category 3 early Friday morning.

For now, Ike is of no threat to land, but could threaten the Bahamas by Sunday and into early next week. Residents of the Bahamas should monitor Ike carefully the next several days. Ballisty said that as of now, it is too early to tell if Ike would have any impact on the United States. "The entire Southeast coast should pay close attention to the progress and forecast track of Ike," he said.

Josephine, a tropical storm in the eastern Atlantic remains fairly weak. It continues to struggle with maximum sustained winds now near 50 MPH; this storm is currently no threat to land; however, the storm continues to feel the effects of wind shear and dry air, and this may keep any additional strengthening in check. Josephine will continue to move west-northwest over the next several days and will not be a threat to land in the near future.

==> AMATEUR RADIO OPERATORS WERE READY FOR HURRICANE GUSTAV

After several days of harrowing watching and waiting for Hurricane Gustav to make landfall, the storm slammed into southeast Louisiana Monday afternoon, leaving flooding, wind damage and power outages in its wake and evacuees eager to go home. As Amateur Radio operators across the area moved from an emergency response stance to clean-up, evaluation and repair, the need for some changes to operations and equipment became clear, as well as the vastly improved response as compared to Hurricane Katrina. As the storm made its way inland, ARRL Division, Section and public information volunteers in and around the area impacted by the Category 2 hurricane, reported that they were preparing to deploy themselves and other volunteers to strategic locations once conditions allow.

Throughout the week, staff at ARRL headquarters coordinated conference calls between key emergency communications volunteers, Division and Section leadership officials and ARRL HQ in order to facilitate communications among the participants and to respond to any requests for assistance. Dennis Dura, K2DCD, ARRL Emergency Preparedness and Response Manager, commented: "Based on what we hear and what we receive in the daily situation reports, it will really dictate what kind of response we're going to have. In the beginning of a storm event, we don't have a clear idea of what the needs are. Once those on the scene tell us what they need, we will support them. Requests for emergency communications personnel will come from Section Managers or their designees, and we as an organization will meet those requests. Gustav is different from Katrina in a lot of ways. For one thing, people are much better prepared down there."

On Monday, September 1, Louisiana Section Manager Gary Stratton, K5GLS, told conference call participants that he was expecting to head to the Baton Rouge Red Cross Marshalling Center the next day. He reported that credentialing for ham volunteers who will be sent to locations requesting Amateur Radio support was being handled, and emergency nets were activated. Louisiana Section Emergency Coordinator Jim Coleman, AI5B, expected to head to Baton Rouge Tuesday as well.

Assistant South Texas SM Mike Schwartz, KG5TL, of Muldoon, reported that 4500 New Orleans-area evacuees were relocated to shelters in surrounding counties. He reported that about 20 ham radio operators were ready to travel to where they are needed. "When we find out, we're ready to deploy," he said.

Mississippi SM Malcolm Keown, W5XX, of Vicksburg, expressed concern about the impending effects from Gustav. He said up to 20 inches of rain could fall in central Mississippi, and tornado warnings have been issued.

Southeastern Division Vice Director Sandy Donahue, W4RU, mentioned that numerous Red Cross shelters have been set up in Georgia to handle the needs of evacuees.

Northern Florida Section Manager Paul Eakin, KJ4G, offered the services of four Winlink stations to forward messages from the states more directly affected, as needed.

ARRL Directors Henry Leggette, WD4Q, of the Delta Division, Greg Sarratt, W4OZK, of the Southeastern Division and Coy Day, N5OK, of the West Gulf Division also took part in the September 1 conference call, as did West Gulf Vice Director Dr David Woolweaver, K5RAV, and Delta Vice Director Karl Bullock, WA5TMC.

At Poplarville, Missisippi -- county seat of Pearl River County -- Emergency Operations Center Communications Officer David Moore, N5ELI, said, "We have some stuff to do, but it's not bad." He noted a defective antenna that was discovered during operations for Gustav, as well as a few operational details that need to be worked out before future events.

But, noted ARRL Mississippi Section Public Information Coordinator Larry Wagoner, N5WLW, who manned the Emergency Operations Center in Picayune, Mississippi, essential services were provided in spite of the problems, as contact was maintained with the shelters in the area as well as other individuals and agencies needing assistance.

Harrison County Emergency Coordinator and District Emergency Coordinator for the Gulf Coast District Tom Hammack, W4WLF, echoed that reaction, noting the heavier damage to his coastal community: "The harbors are torn up," he observed, saying that a small tornado had been sighted near the port, which reportedly damaged a few buildings in the area and knocked out power for a time.

"We had communications with the Coast Guard representatives, on 2 meters, as well as marine VHF," Hammack said. "We had hams at other locations as well." He noted that Ed Byrd, KA5VFU, had the radio links to the area hospitals working, too. "In general it went pretty fair," he said. "This was a cakewalk for us compared to Katrina," Hammack noted, adding, "But the farther west went you go, it wasn't any cakewalk at all. Hancock County (located due west of Harrison County) got hit pretty hard."

North of the coast, Tim Purvis, N5UDK, Emergency Coordinator for Stone County and Assistant Emergency Coordinator for the Gulf Coast District noted that one mobile home was destroyed in the storm. "All in all, it went real well," he said. Like the other officials in the area, he said the storm was a learning exercise for the Amateur Radio community. "We need to get our repeater to a higher location and we need to get more people with emergency Yagis." He said in some cases, hams in outlying areas of the county had a hard time making it into the repeater during the storm. "These are people who may have lost or taken down their antennas," he said, "and they were trying to operate on a mag mount on top of a refrigerator from 20 miles away."

One problem noted by several officials in the area was the signal propagation from the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency (MSEMA) office near Jackson. "A new antenna up there would help," said one. "We had a real hard time copying the signal from MSEMA," said another.

Local hams were not the only ones learning lessons from the storm. Purvis noted that while the MSEMA official at the Stone County Emergency operations Center was familiar with Amateur Radio, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) representative did not know anything about ham radio and the service that hams provide before the storm. By the end of operations Tuesday, she had quite an education, Purvis said, noting that she was not only very impressed with what hams can do, but now wants to become licensed as an Amateur Radio operator herself and is very interested in SKYWARN operations. "We have a feather in our cap on that one," Purvis said.

SKYWARN operations went well across the region, as hams from all over the southern Mississippi area called in to report sightings of severe weather and damage from the storm. "Like you (in Pearl River County), we were inundated by warnings and reports," Purvis said, adding, "I just wish we could get all those people to sign in on a regular basis."

Local officials said the area fared much better in Gustav than in 2005's Hurricane Katrina. "Compared to Katrina, we didn't lose any local communications, phone or Internet. In Katrina, they lost everything," said Purvis. "Our major function was communications with the shelters, storm spotting and being on standby for other services," he added.

Stone County had one shelter open, which closed early Tuesday. Those requiring longer stays were transferred to shelters in Picayune and Hattiesburg. The Stone County shelter housed about 50 people at one point. The shelter in Picayune had about 130 people maximum -- mostly from Louisiana, where nearby New Orleans and St Tammany Parishes remained closed Tuesday.

By Tuesday morning, crews were out evaluating damage to local power lines, cable TV, phone lines and trees, and hams were getting ready for the next time they are called to serve, keeping a close eye on Hurricane Hanna and Hurricane Ike.

As Amateur Radio operators prepared for Hurricane Gustav, the ARRL deployed complete radio stations comprised of industry-donated Amateur Radio equipment, thanks to the generous contributions of ARRL members to the Ham Aid Fund. Created in 2005 to assist with the response to Hurricane Katrina, the Ham Aid Fund is designated to finance Amateur Radio equipment needed for disaster response. In preparation for Hurricane Gustav, ARRL received requests for radio equipment from Louisiana and Texas. The shipping costs for this equipment were covered by the Ham Aid Fund.

According to Assistant Manager of the ARRL Membership and Volunteer Programs Department Norm Fusaro, W3IZ, several kits were shipped to Louisiana; Fusaro is handling Ham Aid requests during Hurricane Gustav. "We sent three HF kits, 3 VHF/UHF kits and a combination kit complete with HF, VHF and handheld transceivers to the Louisiana Office of Homeland Security and Emergency Preparedness (GOHSEP) facility in Baton Rouge, as well as four VHF/UHF base antennas and a support box that included coax, rope, wire antennas and connectors." Fusaro also said that a 600 W amplifier was sent to Jim Coleman, AI5B, in Bogalusa, Louisiana to be used at the Emergency Operations Center there, and an HF radio was sent to Joel Colman, NO5FD, of New Orleans, replacing his rig that was damaged during set up at the firehouse.

"To me, these Go-Kits ramp up ARRL's ability to support Amateur Radio volunteers in the field when the next big disaster hits," said ARRL Chief Development Officer Mary Hobart, K1MMH. "They won't replace or supplant anything that's already on the ground and working well, but the

kits will strengthen it and add flexibility to Amateur Radio's overall response capabilities."

In setting up these Go Kits, League staffers consulted with volunteers who were in the field during Hurricane Katrina to find out what gear served them best or what they wished they'd had but didn't. The Go Kits, stowed in rugged, waterproof Pelican 1650 containers, enable the League to loan out needed equipment on a moment's notice. "The idea is that this makes it easy to ship," explains Fusaro, "and since they're less than 50 pounds apiece, they can be shipped by air."

The HF Kit contains a 100 W HF transceiver, a tuner and antenna, a microphone and a power supply. The VHF/UHF Kit includes a dualband mobile transceiver, power supply, headset, 10 handheld transceivers and a supply of alkaline batteries. In the Handheld Transceiver Kit are eight dualband handheld transceivers and antennas, plus a stock of extra batteries. The Support Kit includes a length of BuryFlex RG-213 coaxial cable, rope, 15 foot jumper cables with battery clamps at one end and an Anderson Powerpole on the other. The kit includes various fittings and adapters to connect to the power distribution unit and to make RF feed line connections. All kits contain any necessary manuals.

Hobart said it's imperative to sustain and enhance ham radio's emergency communication capabilities for the future: "Disasters happen to be one place Amateur Radio can shine," she pointed out. "We need to maintain a high level of readiness to do those things that are second nature to ARES members, but that the public is just coming to recognize." Making the Go Kits available to ARES teams, Hobart said, will help to cement Amateur Radio's position as a community resource. "We want to be able to ensure that we have the personnel and the equipment," she said. "With a disaster of any magnitude, we need to be ready."

Since the arrival of Hurricane Gustav, Hobart said that the Ham Aid fund has been depleted. "With more storms on the horizon, the ARRL is seeking member contributions to rebuild the Ham Aid Fund. This vital lifeline of resources to support the ARRL Field Organization and Amateur Radio Volunteers will benefit from the renewed generosity of radio amateurs." Contributions in any amount can be made online <https://www.arrl.org/forms/development/donations/basic/>.

==> LOOK FOR THE OCTOBER ISSUE OF QST IN YOUR MAILBOX

The October issue of QST -- our first-ever Radiosport issue -- is jam-packed with all sorts of things today's Amateur Radio operator needs, with a special focus on Amateur Radio contesting. From product reviews to experiments to public service, the upcoming issue of QST has something for just about everyone.

Steve Clifford, K4GUN, offer his views "On Becoming a Rove Warrior." In this article, Clifford expounds on the joys of roving -- mobile operating in VHF+ contests -- and offers some lessons and tips gleaned from his first roving operation. Gil McElroy, VE1PKD, gives readers "A History of Radiosport." Did you know that CQ CONTEST could be heard on the bands as far back as the early 1920s? Discover the origins of how contesting began as McElroy takes us on a contesting history journey.

In addition to the articles featuring contesting, ARRL Contributing Editor H. Ward Silver, N0AX, has put together an 8 page radiosport insert -- you can easily find this section, thanks to the bright yellow page edges! This section will feature such articles as how to interpret your Log Checking Report, guidelines for the upcoming contest season and a list of resources that no contester should be without, as well as a listing of major contests throughout the year.

ARRL Contest Branch Manager Sean Kutzko, KX9X, announces how 2009 is the Year of the State QSO Party. Be sure to check out October QST to find out more about this exciting new event. Of course, no issue of QST would be complete without "Contest Corral" and "This Month in Contesting."

ARRL News Editor S. Khrystyne Keane, K1SFA, describes the events and decisions from the July ARRL Board of Directors meeting, as well as announces the six winners who were bestowed awards for 2007-2008.

If you're in the market for a new rig, be sure to check out October's Product Review: NCJ Managing Editor Rick Lindquist, WW3DE, gives his take on the ICOM IC-7700 HF and 6 meter transceiver. In his review, Lindquist says "The IC-7700's attributes seemed shaped more toward the serious contester and DXer, but it's a superior performer with features enough to attract any active HF or 6 meter enthusiast. The price will put the radio out of reach for some, but this piece of radio gear more than fills the average ham's desires, not to mention the operating desk."

Of course, there are the usual columns you know and love in October QST: "Hints & Kinks," "The Doctor Is IN," "How's DX," "Eclectic Technology," "World Above 50 MHz," "Hamspeak" and more. Look for your October issue to arrive soon. QST is the official journal of ARRL, the national association for Amateur Radio. QST is just one of the many benefits of ARRL membership. To join or renew your ARRL membership, please visit the ARRL Web page <http://www.arrl.org/join>.

==> MEMBERSHIP MANAGER TO LEAVE ARRL

On Friday, October 3, the ARRL HQ family will say goodbye to Membership Manager Katie Breen, W1KRB, as she moves away from her native Connecticut. In her short time here, Breen quickly became popular as she traveled to hamfests and conventions around the country -- as well as making videos that have been posted online -- promoting the League to members and non-members alike; she headed up the ARRL team at the 2008 Dayton Hamvention this past May <http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2008/05/17/10103/?nc=1>.

"This job was much more than a job to me," Breen said. "Amateur Radio became part of my life. When I started, I honestly didn't think I'd ever really understand the technical side of things, never mind actually build anything. Since coming to the ARRL, I've built my own antennas and a small transceiver; I couldn't have done any of this without my Elmers. Because of this experience, I've become a strong proponent of mentoring -- you don't have to be a ham for 50 years to become an Elmer."

Breen said that talking to hams around the country and then meeting them at hamfests, as well as connecting with new friends all over the world, has been an "amazing experience. I've loved going to Amateur Radio events and working with countless volunteers that give of their time, energy, experience and funds to continue to promote the Amateur Radio Service. I've had the unique opportunity to spend a lot of time with our field volunteers and I have seen personally the dedication and passion these folks have -- I think they are some of the biggest unsung heroes in ham radio. I don't know of any other hobby or service that has such dedication and passion. I am proud to have had the opportunity to make the personal connection, to bring a piece of ARRL Headquarters to our members and to help develop a sense of belonging for our members."

Breen's supervisor, ARRL Sales and Marketing Manager Bob Inderbitzen, NQ1R, said that she will be missed "a great deal. Members -- and particularly new members -- appreciate her enthusiasm as an advocate for ham radio and ARRL. We've all enjoyed Katie's willingness to share her own stories as a new radio amateur."

Inderbitzen said the search to find a qualified candidate for ARRL Membership Manager is underway. Interested individuals should have a background in membership marketing and experience developing membership recruitment and retention strategies. An understanding of the Amateur Radio Service is desired. The complete job posting and instructions for applying can be found online on the ARRL's Job Announcement Web page <http://www.arrl.org/announce/jobs/>.

==> IARU REGION 2 EC: "ACTIVE MEMBER-SOCIETIES ARE VITAL TO ENSURE AMATEUR RADIO'S FUTURE"

Late last month in Panama, the Executive Committee of IARU Region 2 <http://www.iaru-r2.org/> held its annual meeting. According to IARU Region 2 President Reinaldo Leandro, YV5AMH, the importance of having active and inclusive IARU Member-Societies is the "only way to ensure the future of Amateur Radio." Leandro said this theme was "underlined" throughout the meeting. The United States is a member of Region 2.

At the meeting, the Executive Committee called on the Region 2 Area Directors to establish links at the area and country level to work with an Emergency Communications and Monitoring System. Once those links are established, the Area Directors will work with recently designated Coordinators in the Region <http://www.iaru-r2.org/coordinators/>.

The Committee heard reports regarding the IARU's participation in the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL) and the Caribbean Telecommunications Union (CTU). The CTU is aware of the importance of radio amateurs in emergency situations and has requested the IARU's support to have active Member-Societies in its region. CTU countries include Anguilla, Antigua and Barbuda, The Bahamas, Barbados, Belize, Cayman Islands, Dominican Republic, Grenada, Guyana, Jamaica, Montserrat, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Suriname, Turks and Caicos, and Trinidad and Tobago; the IARU is an Associate Member of CTU.

Other actions by the Executive Committee included:

* The Executive Committee initiated preparations to participate in Telecom Americas 2010, to be held in Buenos Aires, Argentina in March 2010 <http://www.itu.int/americas2010/>.

* The Committee requested the support of the Region 2 Member-Societies in order get more countries in the region to sign on to the International Amateur Radio Permit (IARP) <http://www.arrl.org/FandES/field/regulations/io/>. Countries that currently accept the IARP are Argentina, Brazil, Canada, El Salvador, Panama, Peru, Trinidad and Tobago, United States, Uruguay and Venezuela.

* The Committee announced that an introductory study guide for all those interested in becoming new radio amateurs will be made available in Spanish within the next few months. This guide will be published in a digital format, allowing for easy distribution.

* Emergency Communications Coordinator Cesar Pio Santos, HR2P, advised the Executive Committee that he is compiling an inventory of emergency networks in Region 2. The Committee decided that the listing should be completed "as soon as possible" and underlined its importance to the region.

The next Region 2 Executive Committee meeting will be in September 2009 in Lima, Peru.

The meeting was attended by President Reinaldo Leandro, YV5AMH; Vice President Dario Jurado, HP1DJ; Secretary Ramon Santoyo V., XE1KK; Treasurer and Area E Director Noel E. Donawa, 9Y4NED; Area A Director Daniel A. Lamoureux, VE2KA; Area B Director Rod Stafford, W6ROD; Area C Director Pedro Rodriguez, CO2RP; Area D Director Marco Tulio Gudiel, TG9AGD, and Area G Director Reinaldo Szama, LU2AH. IARU President Larry Price, W4RA was also present, representing the IARU International Secretariat.

==> PENTAGON AMATEUR RADIO CLUB TO HOST SPECIAL EVENT STATION COMMEMORATING 9/11

On Thursday, September 11, the Pentagon Amateur Radio Club (PARC) will operate a Special Event station commemorating the 7th anniversary of the attacks that occurred on the Pentagon, the World Trade Center and over Pennsylvania in 2001 <http://www.k4af.org/>.

This special event will be held in conjunction with President Bush's visit to the Pentagon to dedicate the new Pentagon Memorial <http://www.defenselink.mil/home/features/2008/0708_memorial/index.html>, honoring the 184 people, both at the Pentagon and on American Airlines flight 77, who lost their lives in the attacks. Operators will be on 10, 15, 20, 40 and 80 meters -- both phone and CW -- with plans to operate on a 12 hour basis (1200-2400 UTC). There will be a special QSL card available for stations that work K4AF.

For more information, please contact Gary Sessums, KC5QCN <kc5qcn@arrl.net>. QSL via PARC, PO Box 2322, Arlington, VA 22202.

==>SOLAR UPDATE

Tad "Happy we who can bask in this warm September Sun" Cook, K7RA, this week reports: We're still looking at a quiet sun, but currently a solar wind is disturbing the Earth's magnetic field. Six meter operators -- after enjoying a fine season of sporadic E propagation this summer -- may see some added excitement from auroral propagation. The planetary A index was 33 on Thursday, September 4, the highest daily number in over a year. I don't know when it was last that high, but the closest recent numbers were 32 on April 23, and 31 on March 27. Planetary A index for September 5-10 is predicted to be 20, 15, 8, 5, 5 and 5. It is expected to rise to 20 on September 14. Sunspot numbers for August 28-September 3 were 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0 and 0 with a mean of 0. The 10.7 cm flux was 66.1, 66.8, 67.1, 66.7, 65.8, 66 and 66.2 with a mean of 66.4. Estimated planetary A indices were 2, 3, 3, 3, 4, 3 and 7 with a mean of 3.6. Estimated mid-latitude A indices were 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2 and 7 with a mean of 2.7. There has been some news about the current solar minimum regarding continuous days without spots. August was the first calendar month with no sunspots since 1913. Of course, there have been periods longer than 30 days, but generally over a two calendar-month period in which there were some sunspots in each month. As of Thursday, September 4, there have been 46 continuous days with no spots. That is the seventh longest period of no spots, looking back over 150 years to the mid-19th century. If there are no sunspots through this Sunday, at 49 days this will be the fourth longest spot-free period. For more information concerning radio propagation, visit the ARRL Technical Information Service Propagation page <http://www.arrl.org/tis/info/propagation.html>. To read this week's Solar Report in its entirety, check out the W1AW Propagation Bulletin page <http://www.arrl.org/w1aw/prop/>. * ARRL Sets up E-mail Addresses for Use During Hurricanes, Tropical Storms: In an effort to streamline hurricane support operations at ARRL Headquarters, the League has set up two e-mail addresses for hams to pose questions or relay information to HQ Staff relating to hurricane or named tropical storm events. If you need to communicate with ARRL HQ regarding these storms, please use <hurricane@arrl.org> or <hurricane@arrl.net>. These e-mail addresses will be monitored during each storm's descent on the US, as well as throughout the hurricane season.

* Steven Weber, KD1JV, Wins August QST Cover Plaque Award: The winner of the QST Cover Plaque Award for August is Steven Weber, KD1JV, for his article "A 40 Meter CW/SSB Transceiver for the Homebrew Challenge."

Congratulations, Steven! The winner of the QST Cover Plaque award -- given to the author or authors of the best article in each issue -- is determined by a vote of ARRL members on the QST Cover Plaque Poll Web page <http://www.arrl.org/members-only/QSTvote.html>. * MARS Assists with Hurricane H&W Traffic for American Soldiers in Iraq, Afghanistan: Army Captain Jeff Hammer, N9NIC, who represents the Army Military Affiliate Radio System (Army MARS) <http://www.netcom.army.mil/mars/> in Iraq, has appealed to the families of troops deployed overseas that have been affected by the recent tropical storms and hurricanes to let their loved ones know all is well at home. "There are a lot of soldiers from the Gulf States here in Iraq," Hammer said, "and their families may be impacted by the hurricanes and not have a way to communicate with their soldier to let them know their status in the coming week(s). If you are unable to deliver hurricane-related Health and Welfare messages from a family member to a service member in Iraq due to lack of communication assets or insufficient address information, send them directly through an Amateur Radio operator or Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS) operator <AEN5NAA@winlink.org>. MARS operators currently deployed in Iraq will do their best to get all messages delivered immediately." Hammer said that Army MARS also can handle messages to service members in Afghanistan, but delivery may be delayed. Direct entry of MARSgrams is available via the MARSgram Web site <http://www.mymars.org/>. The site provides full instructions and a message form that will be transmitted automatically via the Army MARS system.

RESCUE RADIO: HAMS RESPOND TO THE THREAT OF HURRICANE GUSTAV

Ham radio operators were ready as hurricane Gustav made landfall along the Louisiana coast on Monday, September 1st. Don Wilbanks, AE5DW, lives in Piccyune Mississippi and works in New Orleans. He picks up the story from here:

Hurricane Gustav slammed into the heart of Louisiana's fishing and oil industry with 115 mph winds delivering only a glancing blow to the city of New Orleans. 60 hours earlier, Mayor Ray Nagin had ordered that New Orleans be evacuated for fear that Gustav would bring the kind of catastrophic flooding brought by Katrina three years ago. Thankfully, that did not happen.

That's not to say that the area escaped unscathed. According to news reports, 2 non-federal levees in Plaquemines Parish just south east of New Orleans were on the verge of collapse as engineers, local law enforcement, parish employees and even prison trustees worked to fortify them. In New Orleans the newly completed Army Corps of Engineers flood gates and pumps in the 17th St. Canal and London Avenue Canal were used in their first real test. They worked flawlessly as a squall line caused the water to rise in those canals putting pressure on the repaired floodwalls that failed during Hurricane Katrina.

Across the region, roofs were torn from homes, trees toppled and roads flooded. More than 1 million customers were without power or minimal telephone service. In many areas, cellular telephone service was non existent. And it was here that ham radio operators were on the front line. Hams like Joe Glorioso, N5OZG, who is a paramedic in New Orleans:

N5OZG: "We still got winds. Maybe 40 to 50 MPH winds. We still have some gusts. If I had to take a guess, maybe 50 to 60 MPH. There are a lot of powerlines down A few trees down. A lot of fences down. But overall it looks very well as compared to Katrina."

--

Glorioso's report was one of many that were relayed using the facilities of the Voice Over Internet Protocol Weather Net. The net had numerous EchoLink and IRLP nodes on line from across the affected area along with several stations from outside of the hurricane zone. Together they provided critical information to forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami: Unknown ham: I just want to report that I'm in Jones County, just about 90 miles Asouth of Jackson (MS). Thing are going pretty good here. We've gotten reports of 40 MPH gusts so far and sustained around 18 MPH and maybe over an inch of rain. No major flooding here as of now."

Stations on the net filed reports of sustained measured winds of 100 MPH in Houma, Louisiana before the ham radio spotters lost their wind instrumentation. Reports out of New Orleans indicated several wind gusts 101 MPH. The first reports of a levee break in Scarsdale, Louisiana was reported by N5OZG. He also reported the good news when the situation was stabilized by a sandbagging efforts.

But the Voice Over Internet Protocol Weather Net was not the only ham radio communications effort that had been made ready for the arrival of Hurricane Gustav. Long before the VoIP operation began, hams had been tracking Gustav as it spun across the Caribbean and slammed into Cuba before turning toward the United States Gulf Coast.

The High Frequency Hurricane Watch Net activated at 1900 U-T-C on Sunday, August 31st. Its initial job was to establish a list of available reporting stations along the northern Gulf Of Mexico shores. Its primary frequency was 14.325 MHz upper sideband with additional activation on 7.268 MHz lower sideband during the storm. It was then used to communicate with station WX4NHXC at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. One of the jobs of both the HF and VoIP nets was to funnel requests for severe weather reports to the ham community:

KD1CY: "Looking for any reports across south-east Louisiana or southern Mississippi of strong winds, wind damage. Measurements or estimates on winds would be helpful along with any river or stream urban or coastal flooding. This is KD1CY"

--

And hams across the area answered the call. They provided reports of wind speed, precipitation and water levels on rivers and lakes where it was feared that they might overflow:

--

Unknown ham: "the latest river state: the last one I gave you was right at 4 point 0. Its now risen to 4.5 on the river here at Biousara in Mobile county, Fairland, Alabama.

--

Another job of the nets was to deliver bulletins from the National Weather Service to those listening in. Jim Sellars, N0UAM was the net control on the VoIP net when this advisory was issued:

--
N0UAM read the National Weather Service release. (Not transcribed for newscast)

But these were not the only two groups taking to the air as Gustav approached. Others lending their support and expertise included the West Gulf Emergency Health and Welfare Net, the Water Way Net and the Maritime Mobile Network. And the Southeastern D-Star Weather Net put its members on alert as well. This net held forth on D-Star reflector 002A. All stations on the D-Star network were asked to monitor and to provide assistance if needed.

The work of ham radio operators with regard to Hurricane Gustav is not yet complete. The storm left a lot of damage in its wake and that includes some communications outages as well as the need for ongoing damage assessment. These are both areas that are certain to include networks set up by radio amateurs. .

And its not over yet. As Gustav diminished into a tropical storm and headed inland, the various nets turned their attention to Hurricanes Hanna and Ike. They were also monitoring the progress of Tropical Depression Ten, now Tropical Storm Josephine as this story is being filed. The members of these ham radio networks are well aware that at this time of year more hurricanes and severe weather is developing out in the South Atlantic, and at least some of it will be heading their way.

For my home 60 miles north east of New Orleans in Picayune, Mississippi, I'm Don Wilbanks, AE5DW, reporting for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

Julio Ripoll, WD4R, is the Assistant Coordinator for WX4NHC. He said that the incoming information provided by hams was very critical to operations at the National Hurricane Center and to WX4NHC as well.

RESCUE RADIO: HAM RADIO MAKES READY FOR HURRICANE HANNA

Ham radio is already involved in the watch of Hurricane Hanna. That storm is expected to hit somewhere along the South-East U-S coastline in coming days. And already, members of the Hurricane Watch Net have Hanna in their sights:

Unidentified ham: "At 5 PM AST which is the same as Eastern Daylight time Hanna continues to linger over the south-eastern Bahamas. A hurricane warning is in effect for the Bahamas and the Turks and Caicos Islands."

--

As we go to air the Hurricane Watch Net is not yet fully activated for hurricane Hanna. You can keep up with the ham radio tracking of Hanna and other tropical storms at the networks website. Its in cyberspace at www.hwn.org. (HWN)

RESTRUCTURING: AUSTRALIA TO GET NEW FREQUENCY ALLOCATION PLAN

The Australian Communications and Media Authority has released a draft of new Australian Radio Frequency Plan for comment. Geoff Atkinson VK3AFA reports:

The Australian Communications and Media Authority has released a draft of a new Spectrum Plan for public comment. When completed, the new Spectrum Plan is intended to replace the current Spectrum Plan developed in January 2005.

Go to the ACMA web page to "read all about it", but in brief proposed changes to the plan will provide: Protection of space research activities while allowing the use of new high data-rate meteorology satellite services; Upgrade of the radiolocation service to primary and allocating additional spectrum to the existing space research activities; Sharing between the mobile-satellite service and space research services and between the mobile-satellite service and mobile service; Improvements to the satellite coordination and notification procedures; Spectrum harmonization between space services and future terrestrial services. Sharing arrangements between the fixed service and satellite systems using highly inclined orbits; and Spectrum compatibility between the radio astronomy service and the active space services.

RADIO POLITICS: IARU REGION 2 MEETS IN PANAMA CITY

Region 2 of the International Amateur Radio Union has issued a report on the recent Executive Committee meeting held in Panama City on August 30th and 31st. The main emphasis of the gathering was to emphasize the importance of having active member societies as being the only way to insure the future of amateur radio. To this end, the support of Area Directors was requested in order to establish local links at area and country level to work with recently designated Coordinators.

The participation of the International Amateur Radio Union in the International Telecommunications Union as well as CITEL and CTU was also discussed. The CTU has requested the support of the IARU in order to have active Member Societies in its region. This, ever since it became aware of the importance of radio amateurs in emergency situations.

The importance of creating an accurate list of Emergency Networks in Region 2 as soon as possible was talked about. This list is being developed by the new EMCOR organization in conjunction with Dr. C&#65533;sar P&#65533;o Santos, HR2P, and with the support of Member Societies.

Under new projects, within the next few months a Spanish version of a manual for beginners in the hobby will be made available in digital form. This, for easy distribution and to serve as an introductory study guide for all those interested in becoming new radio amateurs.

IARU Region 2 will also begin preparations to participate in the Telecom Am&#65533;ricas 2010 event. It will be held in Buenos Aires, Argentina in March of 2010. (Adapted from IARU Region 2 Release)

RADIO POLITICS: IARU REGION 3 MEETS IN JAPAN

The Directors of Region 3 of the International Amateur Radio Union met in Tokyo. Japan from 20th to the 22nd. The gathering was hosted by the Japan Amateur Radio League. Amateur Radio Newsline's Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, tells us what was discussed:

The Directors of I-A-R-U Region 3 are Chairman Michael Owen, VK3KI, and members JE1MUI, ZL2AZ, VU2GMN and HL1AQQ. Also attending was IARU Vice President Tim Ellam, VE6SH.

First up was the future. The next World Radiocommunications Conference will be held in 2011 and has agenda items that may directly and indirectly affect the amateur services. The IARU Region 3 Directors said that they recognized the importance of ensuring that those involved in the preparation for that Conference at a regional and national level are kept fully informed.

In the area of emergency communications, the Region 3 Directors again decided to urge member societies to approach their administrations to remove any national regulations that inhibited amateurs from either meeting emergency communication needs or practicing to meet such needs. At the same time the Directors congratulated the Chinese Radio Sports Association on the outstanding contribution of the Chinese radio amateurs. This, in support of the humanitarian response to the tragic earthquake in May 2008.

The Directors also carefully considered an interference complaint report from VU2UR. He's the Regional Monitoring System Coordinator and his report dealt with the broadcasts from shortwave station the Sound of Hope in Taiwan on amateur bands. The Directors will urge member societies to approach their administrations requesting that they object to the Taiwanese administration about these breaches of the Radio Regulations.

Those are the meeting highlights. I'm Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, in Los Angeles.

In closing the meeting Chairman Owen acknowledged the time and contributions made by all Directors since their last meeting in August of 2007. He said that it is important that all amateurs recognize the importance of the work of the IARU in protecting their operating privileges. (IARU Region 3 News Release, WIA News)

ENFORCEMENT: FCC WARNS UNLICENSD FLORIDA BROADCASTER TO GET OFF THE AIR

A Florida resident could face FCC sanctions if he permits an unlicensed transmitter to continue operating from his property. Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, reports:

The FCC's Miami Office has warned the owner of property where an unlicensed transmitter is believed to have be located to take it off the air. That, or face severe consequences.

In its July 16th letter to R. The FCC says that back on March 4th, 14th And June 3rd that agents from the its office confirmed by direction finding that radio signals on frequency 101.9 MHz were emanating from an antenna mounted on a pole at Gray's legal residence.

THE SOCIAL SCENE: SHELBY'S MOVE TO GASTON COUNTY A SUCCESS

The 2008 Shelby Hamfest is being called a huge success. According to the Cleveland County Star newspaper more than 1,000 amateur radio enthusiasts were already gathered at Gaston County Park in Dallas County, North Carolina on Thursday, August 21st, even though the shows opening was still 48 hours away.

Celebrating 52 years the Shelby Hamfest usually hosts between 8,000 to 12,000 attendees annually. It is one of the largest hamfest in the United States, and certainly one of the largest in the Southeast. The show had moved to the Gaston County Fairgrounds earlier this year after it became apparent that no compromise could be reached with the management of its longtime home in Cleveland County. Many Shelby businesses have come to rely on income from the annual ham radio gathering and some are dismayed at the way in which the city handled the negotiations that lead the Shelby Amateur Radio Club to move the hamfest away .

Meantime, the Cleveland County Star reported that people started arriving at the park as early as Sunday, August 24th and that the heavy rain has not dampened their enthusiasm to be a part of this annual ham radio event. The Star quotes Hamfest Chairman Robbie Hamrick. WA4RH, as saying that festivities began Friday night with a free bluegrass concert in downtown Dallas.

The Hamfest itself opened on Saturday morning August 30th Hamrick used the opportunity of his newspaper interview to pass along his clubs gratitude for use of the Gaston county facility He told the newspaper that the sponsors appreciate Gaston County letting them use it and make it their new home.

As to the views of those who attended. A sampling of posts on several websites and blogs all seem to be very positive. Almost everyone seemed to be saying it was a good crowd, a good hamfest and that the Shelby Amateur Radio Club should not change a thing. (Cleveland County Star, others)

THAT FINAL ITEM: THE TICK

And finally this week, most ham are well aware of time standard station WWV at Ft. Collins, Colorado . Its run by the National Institute of Standards and Technology and radiates 10,000 watts on 5, 10, and 15 MHz; and 2500 watts on 2 point 5 and 20 MHz. And over the years WWV broadcasts time and frequency information 24 hours per day, 7 days per week to millions of listeners worldwide.

Well now it appears to have an on-line rival. Well, one thats at least a tongue in cheek rival called "The Tick." Take a listen:

--

The Tick is the creation of Douglas Grant, KD1TJ, who happens to own Lownoise Productions in Tucson, Arizona. We asked him to tell us how The Tick came about.

KD1TJ: "Back in the late 70's, about the time that I got my ham ticket and while I was still working in commercial radio, I turned a broadcaster and friend of mine onto shortwave listening, which I had been doing since the 60's. I sold him one of my used radios and he became familiar with what was on the dial. He would listen to Vladimir Posner on Radio Moscow, theatrical works on the BBC and all the other noises that you hear like WWV. So he and I used to joke about the announcements that might be heard on that time and frequency station if it were commercial radio, like -- all the time, all the time.

"Fast forward to 2003. Another friend of mine had moved to Atlanta and was working as a television engineer for The Weather Channel. And he revealed that one of the local TV weathermen on the air in Atlanta was in fact one of the voices of WWV -- John Doyle.

"So on a whim I wrote to John and I told him about some of the laughs we'd had at WWV's expense over the years and inquired if he might want to voice ome lines in order to create a spoof . And, to my delight he liked the idea, did some recording for me. What resulted is The Tick. The new WWV."

Grant tells Newsline that he has received lots of very positive feedback since he brought The Tick to the world of cyberspace several years ago. You can check out "The Tick" for yourself at www.lownoiserecords.com/wwv_the_tick.html (ARNewsline" and The Tick)

"Consider that language a moment. 'Purposefully and materially supported hostilities against the United States' is in the eye of the beholder, and this administration has proven itself to be astonishingly impatient with criticism of any kind. The broad powers given to Bush by this legislation allow him to capture, indefinitely detain, and refuse a hearing to any American citizen who speaks out against Iraq or any other part of the so-called 'War on Terror.'

"If you write a letter to the editor attacking Bush, you could be deemed as purposefully and materially supporting hostilities against the United States. If you organize or join a public demonstration against Iraq, or against the administration, the same designation could befall you. One dark-comedy aspect of the legislation is that senators or House members who publicly disagree with Bush, criticize him, or organize investigations into his dealings could be placed under the same designation. In effect, Congress just gave Bush the power to lock them up." -- William Rivers Pitt

"It has become clear in recent months that a critical mass of the American people have seen through the lies of the Bush administration; with the president's polls at an historic low, growing resistance to the war Iraq, and the Democrats likely to take back the Congress in mid-term elections, the Bush administration is on the ropes. And so it is particularly worrying that President Bush has seen fit, at this juncture to, in effect, declare himself dictator." -- Frank Morales

Man made coordinate systems are fine without knowing from where or what is the base essence of what the space as deduced field is composed of, but not totally satisfactory. Anomalies keep space cropping up and scientists have to keep adjusting for these unexpected events. MINUTES OF THE AUGUST 5, 2008 MEETING
The meeting opened at 7:02 pm EDT with the Secretary (KD8CTL) reading the minutes of the July 1, meeting. (Not reported during the July meeting) They included a report from the Property committee showing that the clubhouse is in good shape, and all systems were working. No other committee reports were available. Since there was a health issue with the present Secretary, Gavrielah Hojnacki (KD8CTL) George, W8FWG offered his services to fill in the remainder of her term as "Acting Secretary." This offer was accepted by the existing Secretary, and approved by the President, with an amendment to serve up to the time of the next election in March of 2009. This was agreed to by George, W8FWG. Self introductions followed, with the following radio amateurs present at the meeting: KD8CTL, KB9RQZ, N8ZBJ, WA8JSF, W8ERB, W9VLM, W8ILS, W4KAR, WB8ZYL, WA8QNF, K6IPC, W8DAO, KB8XI and W8FWG. Our President voiced concern of the ongoing uncertainly of the operation of our 146.670 MHz repeater in Herman. George, W8FWG reported for Chuck, WB8FCY, that this property may have already been sold by the DNR, to a radio or TV broadcasting company but that we had no assurance that that had taken place. George offered to contact the DNR (a ham in the DNR, whom he knows) to get the latest information on that site, and to report back to the President of the club, ASAP.
Treasurer's Report: By Paul, W9VLM, indicated we have received a request from the State of Michigan regarding our charter and status as a non-profit organization. This means a charge of $20 annually, and the Treasurer was instructed to pay it. At 7:36 pm

Gavrielah had to leave suddenly (no reason given) and the roster of those present was turned over to George,
W8FWG. Glenn, WA8QNF asked this question of the President. "Mark, in the interest of the CCRAA would you be willing to step down as President of the organization.?"
The answer given by Mark was "No!" In view of the "turbulence" that occurred, the Property Chairman's report (W8FWG's report) did not get read, but it is included here as follows: All utilities within the building are operational, and the weekly routines are being kept up, the monthly check of the emergency engine was completed, an additional operating chart was made up and a new antenna tuning guide was added.
The lawn was not mowed, per the President's request, because of his allergy to newly mown grass. The water leak at the roof has been corrected and one problem with a door switch remains and that should be taken care before the next meeting. Cataloging of the small parts cabinet
completed by year's end..
A motion made by Glenn, WA8QNF and seconded by Roy, WB8ZYL to "Remove Mark, KB9RQZ from the office of President of the CCRAA" was introduced, and a discussion followed. When it came to a vote, there was one ABSTENTION, one NO vote, 11 YES
votes, and the motion carried. George, W8FWG, being appointed Acting Secretary took ending notes. The next meeting of the CCRAA is scheduled to be held at
Clubhouse on September ...

Just get a small beam and null out the other repeater if both repeaters are coordinated. I find it odd that two repeaters would be coordinated on the same frequency in such close proximity in the first place. Are you sure both are coordinated? Just because it is in the ARRL directory, does not mean that it is a coordinated repeater. It could be that no one has complained enough thus far or the two repeater owners have an agreement.

Ma, throw me out the window, a pickle!
The New York City Public Schools have officially declared Jewish English, now dubbed Hebronics, as a second language. Backers of the move say the city schools are the first in the nation to recognize Hebonics as a valid language and a significant attribute of American culture.

According to Howard Ashland, linguistics professor at Brooklyn College and renowned Hebonics scholar, the sentence structure of Hebonics derives from middle a nd eastern European language patterns, as well as Yiddish.

Professor Shulman explains, "In Hebronics, the response to any question is usually another question with a complaint that is either implied or stated.

Shulman says that Hebronics is a superb linguistic vehicle for expressing sarcasm or skepticism. An example is the repetition of a word with 'sh' or 'shm' at the beginning: 'Mountains, shmountains. Stay away. You should want a nosebleed?'

Another Hebronics pattern is moving the subject of a sentence to the end, with its pronoun at the beginning: "It's beautiful, that dress."

Shulman says one also sees the Hebronics verb moved to the end of the sentence. Thus the response to a remark such as "He's slow as a turtle," could be: "Turtle, shmurtle! Like a fly in Vaseline he walks."

Shulman provided the following examples from his best-selling textbook, Switched-On Hebronics:

Question: 'What time is it?'
English answer: 'Sorry, I don't know.'
Hebronic response: 'What am I, a clock?'

Remark: 'I hope things turn out okay.'
English answer: 'Thanks.'
Hebronic response: 'I should be so lucky!'

Remark: 'Hurry up. Dinner's ready.'
English answer: 'Be right there.'
Hebronic response: 'Alright already, I'm coming.
What's with the 'hurry' business? Is there a fire?'

Remark: 'I like the tie you gave me; I wear it all the time.'
English answer: 'Glad you like it.'
Hebronic response: 'So what's the matter; you don't like the other ties I gave you?'

Remark: 'Sarah and I are engaged.'
English answer: 'Congratulations!'
Hebronic response: 'She could stand to lose a few pounds.'

Question: 'Would you like to go riding with us?'
English answer: 'Just say when.'
Hebronic response: 'Riding, shmiding! Do I look like a cowboy?'

To the guest of honour at a birthday party:
English answer: 'Happy birthday.'
Hebronic response : 'A year smarter you should become.'

Remark: 'It's a beautiful day.'
English answer: 'Sure is.'
Hebonic response: 'So the sun is out; what else is new?'

Answering a phone call from a son:
English answer: 'It's been a while since you called.'
Hebronic response: 'You didn't wonder if I'm dead already?'

Email, shmemail! Luck and happiness will or will not come to you regardless if you send it to another eight people!!!

Liar! Real straight people not only don't care, they don't confuse bisexuality with homosexuality, especially not once the difference has been explained. You are homophobic, and by your display of vocabulary, not one of the ignorant idiots known as "the Bush base" or "Dittoheads" -- you might be an incidental part of either group, but you are atypical.
Therefore, I suspect you are a (future) Log Cabin Republican who has yet Folksinger Phil Ochs summed it up: "A demonstration should turn you on, not turn you off." Ma, throw me out the window, a pickle!

The New York City Public Schools have officially declared Jewish English, now dubbed Hebronics, as a second language. Backers of the move say the city schools are the first in the nation to recognize Hebonics as a valid language and a significant attribute of American culture.

According to Howard Ashland, linguistics professor at Brooklyn College and renowned Hebonics scholar, the sentence structure of Hebonics derives from middle a nd eastern European language patterns, as well as Yiddish.

Professor Shulman explains, "In Hebronics, the response to any question is usually another question with a complaint that is either implied or stated.

Shulman says that Hebronics is a superb linguistic vehicle for expressing sarcasm or skepticism. An example is the repetition of a word with 'sh' or 'shm' at the beginning: 'Mountains, shmountains. Stay away. You should want a nosebleed?'

Another Hebronics pattern is moving the subject of a sentence to the end, with its pronoun at the beginning: "It's beautiful, that dress."

Shulman says one also sees the Hebronics verb moved to the end of the sentence. Thus the response to a remark such as "He's slow as a turtle," could be: "Turtle, shmurtle! Like a fly in Vaseline he walks."

Shulman provided the following examples from his best-selling textbook, Switched-On Hebronics:

Question: 'What time is it?'
English answer: 'Sorry, I don't know.'
Hebronic response: 'What am I, a clock?'

English answer: 'Thanks.'
Hebronic response: 'I should be so lucky!'

Remark: 'Hurry up. Dinner's ready.'
English answer: 'Be right there.'
Hebronic response: 'Alright already, I'm coming.
What's with the 'hurry' business? Is there a fire?'

Remark: 'I like the tie you gave me; I wear it all the time.'
English answer: 'Glad you like it.'

Hebronic response: 'She could stand to lose a few pounds.'

Question: 'Would you like to go riding with us?'
English answer: 'Just say when.'
Hebronic response: 'Riding, shmiding! Do I look like a cowboy?'

To the guest of honour at a birthday party:
Hebronic response : 'A year smarter you should become.'

Remark: 'It's a beautiful day.'
English answer: 'Sure is.'
Hebonic response: 'So the sun is out; what else is new?'

Answering a phone call from a son:
English answer: 'It's been a while since you called.'
Hebronic response: 'You didn't wonder if I'm dead already?'

I don't care. Nevertheless, there is no difference, you are a homosexual and obviously you are afraid to accept it. All bisexuals are just gays who are scared, embarassed, guilt ridden, or have deep rooted mental issues which do not allow them to fully accept what they are, a homosexual. So they teeter-totter between gay and straight sexual contact/lifestyles, and then rant and rave to the world about homophobes and bi-sexuals.

Like it or not you are a homosexual, gay, queer, or whichever term you like.

Just like if you planned and killed someone, you would be a murderer.

If you pulled out a gun and robbed someone, you would be a robber.

If you speed in your car, you are a speeder.

If you like to have sexual contact with males, which is partaking in a homosexual act, you are a homosexual.

If you have two parents and one is black and one is white, you are considered black, not bi-white or bi-black, but black.

>You are homophobic

I have no problems dealing with homosexuals. I have known a few gay couples, and I considered them friends. I have a friend at work who happens to be gay, could not know a nicer guy. You need to get off of the fence and just go full gay. You will be much happier, you can stop trying to fool everyone on here and yourself with your pointless ranting and raving, and your avoidance that you are a homosexual.

Ma, throw me out the window, a pickle!
The New York City Public Schools have officially declared Jewish English, now dubbed Hebronics, as a second language. Backers of the move say the city schools are the first in the nation to recognize Hebonics as a valid language and a significant attribute of American culture.

According to Howard Ashland, linguistics professor at Brooklyn College and renowned Hebonics scholar, the sentence structure of Hebonics derives from middle a nd eastern European language patterns, as well as Yiddish.

Professor Shulman explains, "In Hebronics, the response to any question is usually another question with a complaint that is either implied or stated.

Shulman says that Hebronics is a superb linguistic vehicle for expressing sarcasm or skepticism. An example is the repetition of a word with 'sh' or 'shm' at the beginning: 'Mountains, shmountains. Stay away. You should want a nosebleed?'

Another Hebronics pattern is moving the subject of a sentence to the end, with its pronoun at the beginning: "It's beautiful, that dress."

Shulman says one also sees the Hebronics verb moved to the end of the sentence. Thus the response to a remark such as "He's slow as a turtle," could be: "Turtle, shmurtle! Like a fly in Vaseline he walks."

Shulman provided the following examples from his best-selling textbook, Switched-On Hebronics:

Question: 'What time is it?'
English answer: 'Sorry, I don't know.'
Hebronic response: 'What am I, a clock?'

English answer: 'Thanks.'
Hebronic response: 'I should be so lucky!'

Remark: 'Hurry up. Dinner's ready.'
English answer: 'Be right there.'
Hebronic response: 'Alright already, I'm coming.
What's with the 'hurry' business? Is there a fire?'

Remark: 'I like the tie you gave me; I wear it all the time.'
English answer: 'Glad you like it.'

Hebronic response: 'She could stand to lose a few pounds.'

Question: 'Would you like to go riding with us?'
English answer: 'Just say when.'
Hebronic response: 'Riding, shmiding! Do I look like a cowboy?'

To the guest of honour at a birthday party:
Hebronic response : 'A year smarter you should become.'

Remark: 'It's a beautiful day.'
English answer: 'Sure is.'
Hebonic response: 'So the sun is out; what else is new?'

Answering a phone call from a son:
English answer: 'It's been a while since you called.'
Hebronic response: 'You didn't wonder if I'm dead already?'

Unlikely anywhere other than in the very near vicinity, and at that

In the version that I heard it was the null that the 'suck out' caused that led to an investigation that resulted in the prosecution.

It seems to me that a resonant structure to capture energy would re-radiate so I can't see where such a null would come from, the wavelength is long so the path difference between the main tx and the re-radiator would make such a phase shift difficult to achieve.

Surely that would only be true if the power was not dumped into a load? The power in the load has to come from somewhere, and if it is in the load it is not in the aether.

It depends on the power captured vs the power in the load, but in any case the aperture of the loop is fairly small and cannot allow energy to be captured from outside that aperture. In comparison with the size of the transmitting antenna and the field it generates this must be insignificant I think.

In fact, I wonder if he could really run a house full of fluorescent lights this way.

I thought the farmers equipment caused four "nulls", or local minima, in the

I do recall a story about 30 years ago (possibly apocryphal) about a farmer who lived on the UK side of the Radio Luxemburg transmitter and powered his cattle shed from the radio waves, and was prosecuted. Radio Luxemburg had some sort of phased array and the cows electrical use disrupted the beam.

HaShem' 'HaShem' - (neither masculine nor feminine and absolutely no plural); the word means, literally, 'The Name,' and it is the way that Jews refer to G-d when not in a Prayer or Torah Reading or Torah citation context.

HaShem determines who walks into your life ... It is up to you to decide who you let walk away, who you let stay, and who you refuse to let go.

I need this back. If you'll do this for me, I'll do it for you .... HaShem, bless all my friends and special family in whatever it is that you know they may be needing this day! And may their life be full of peace, prosperity and power as they seek to have a closer relationship with you. Amen.

Now, if you wish, send it on to five other people. Within minutes you have caused a multitude of people to pray for other people.

That my friend is a Mitzvah!

Then sit back and watch the power of HaShem work in your life.
P. S. Five is good, and more is better! Who else do you know that needs a blessing?

Didn't Tesla propose using DC current, basically broadcast/produced from thousands of transmitters. In order to use the electrical current/field, all one had to do was ground one side/wire to Earth. The other side or wire would be the receptor/antenna for lack of a better term.

I'm not a technical person but I think I have the basic premise right.

No. It wasn't DC, since DC is direct current. That was Edison who would have needed a power plant every half mile or so. Tesla was hyping "Broadcast power" which was lossy broadband RF power that would wipe out most of the usable RF spectrum. Due to the 'Inverse Square Law', it was impractical, and always will be.

Tesla was responsible for AC power distribution, which pissed Edison off.

I think it's no one has complained so far. If the two owners had an agreement, then the one wouldn't be attempting to run off anyone he hears on the frequency.

I could stay on the frequency and talk on the coordinated open repeater, but from what I've read, the FCC has been consistently siding with the coordinated closed repeater operators.

FWIW, the Wikipedia article:
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wireless_energy_transfer describes some of Tesla's ideas and also has a list of references to more recent wireless energy distribution schemes.

That is even stranger, your regional coordinating body must have missed that both repeaters were going to be that close, or they were coordinated by two different bodies (near lapping regions). Most coordinating groups usually will not even coordinate a pair of frequencies for use unless the repeaters are seperated by at least a 100 miles.

If all that you are telling us is fact, then my previous suggestion is the best I can offer. Build or buy a small two meter beam to direct your signal away from the other repeater, and reduce your power accordingly.

Only in the near field (at the site). Theoretically, there is a limit to the number of receivers for any one signal (swamping), but that number has never been approached.

As for the original story, I can verify that it CAN be done, and is done inadvertantly in places where homes are found in the area of an 'antenna farm'. In Portland, for instance, the antenna farm for the high powered FM signals is in a residential shared area. Some homes within that area that use fluorescent lighting still have some light from the tubes with the switch turned off. This is not full light, but neither are they using a tuned circuit.

No rumor about it. Westinghouse published several papers on electricity where he described voltage and current phase and had a true understanding of it. Edison was a hands-on experimenter who had little theoretical physics or mathematics background. That's why the two had a feud about AC vs DC. After Edison's assistant died of radiation poisoning, he was very leary of things he didn't understand and tried to convince people that AC current was just too dangerous. He also refused any more experiments concerning radiation.

This is one of the last lists before the regulations of late 1928 were implemented, changing the "wavelengths" of nearly all stations and regulating, to some extent, power.

WGY in Schenectady had 50 kw, not 500 kw. Still has 50 kw, too.

Tesla worked for Edison when he came up with AC power distribution.
Edison favored DC for some reason and Tesla quit and went to work for Westinghouse. When the electric chair was proposed Edison did everything he could to discredit it because it used Tesla's AC power.

WOW! Is that all you have to say? No amateur radio related advice to offer? Of course not, because it is a subject that you lack any usable knowledge of whatsoever. Just stay on the sidelines, Mr. Pronocode, no knowledge, amateur cb radio operator, while the real hams, no code or not, have a discussion that does not involve your nonsense.

Worthy of your time and attention regardless of your Party Affiliation 545 PEOPLE
By Charlie Reese

Politicians are the only people in the world who create problems and then campaign against them.

Have you ever wondered why, if both the Democrats and the Republicans are against deficits, WHY do we have deficits?

Have you ever wondered why, if all the politicians are against inflation and high taxes, WHY do we have inflation and high taxes?

You and I don't propose a federal budget. The president does.

You and I don't have the Constitutional authority to vote on appropriations. The House of Representatives does.

You and I don't write the tax code, Congress does.

You and I don't set fiscal policy, Congress does.

You and I don't control monetary policy, the Federal Reserve Bank does.

One hundred senators, 435 congressmen, one president, and nine Supreme Court justices = 545 human beings out of the 300 million are directly, legally, morally, and individually responsible for the domestic problems that plague this country.

I excluded the members of the Federal Reserve Board because that problem was created by the Congress. In 1913, Congress delegated its Constitutional duty to provide a sound currency to a federally chartered, but private, central bank.

I excluded all the special interests and lobbyists for a sound reason. They have no legal authority. They have no ability to coerce a senator, a congressman, or a president to do one cotton-picking thing. I don't care if they offer a politician $1 million dollars in cash. The politician has the power to accept or reject it. No matter what the lobbyist promises, it is the legislator's responsibility to determine how he votes.

Those 545 human beings spend much of their energy convincing you that what they did is not their fault. They cooperate in this common con regardless of party.

What separates a politician from a normal human being is an excessive amount of gall. No normal human being would have the gall of a Speaker, who stood up and criticized the President for creating deficits. The president can only propose a budget. He cannot force the Congress to accept it.

The Constitution, which is the supreme law of the land, gives sole responsibility to the House of Representatives for originating and approving appropriations and taxes. Who is the speaker of the House? She is the leader of the majority party. She and fellow House members, not the president, can approve any budget they want. If the president vetoes it, they can pass it over his veto if they agree to.

It seems inconceivable to me that a nation of 300 million can not replace 545 people who stand convicted -- by present facts -- of incompetence and irresponsibility. I can't think of a single domestic problem that is not traceable directly to those 545 people. When you fully grasp the plain truth that 545 people exercise the power of the federal government, then it must follow that what exists is what they want to exist.

If the tax code is unfair, it's because they want it unfair.

If the budget is in the red, it's because they want it in the red.

If the Army & Marines are in IRAQ, it's because they want them in IRAQ.

If they do not receive social security but are on an elite retirement plan not available to the people, it's because they want it that way. There are no insoluble government problems.

Do not let these 545 people shift the blame to bureaucrats, whom they hire and whose jobs they can abolish; to lobbyists, whose gifts and advice they can reject; to regulators, to whom they give the power to regulate and from whom they can take this power. Above all, do not let them con you into the belief that there exists disembodied mystical forces like 'the economy,' 'inflation,' or 'politics' that prevent them from doing what they take an oath to do.

Those 545 people, and they alone, are responsible.

They, and they alone, have the power.

They, and they alone, should be held accountable by the people who are their bosses provided the voters have the gumption to manage their own employees.

We should vote all of them out of office and clean up their mess!

Charlie Reese is a former columnist of the Orlando Sentinel Newspaper. What you do with this article now that you have read it is up to you, though you appear to have several choices.

1. You can send this to everyone in your address book, and hope they do something about it.

2. You can agree to vote against everyone that is currently in office, knowing that the process will take several years.

3. You can decide to run for office yourself and agree to do the job properly.

4. Lastly, you can sit back and do nothing, or re-elect the current bunch.

YOU DECIDE, BUT AT LEAST SEND IT TO EVERYONE IN YOUR ADDRESS BOOK, MAYBE SOMEONE IN THERE WILL DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

"The first electric chair was made by Harold P. Brown. Brown was an employee of Thomas Edison, hired for the purpose of researching electrocution and for the development of the electric chair. Since Brown worked for Edison, and Edison promoted Brown's work, the development of the electric chair is often erroneously credited to Edison himself. Brown's design was based on use of Nikola Tesla's alternating current (AC), which was marketed by George Westinghouse and was then just emerging as the rival to Edison's less transport-efficient direct current (DC), which was further along in commercial development. The decision to use AC was partly driven by Edison's claims that AC was more lethal than DC."

After examining his elderly patient, the doctor asked the man, 'You appear to be in good health. Do you have any medical concerns you would like to ask me about?'

'In fact, I do,' said the old man. 'After I have sex I am usually hot and sweaty, and then, after I have sex with her the second time, I am usually cold and chilly.'

After examining his elderly wife, the doctor said, 'Everything appears to be fine. Do you have any medical concerns that you would like to discuss with me?'

The lady replied that she had no questions or concerns. The doctor then said to her: 'Your husband had an unusual concern. He claims that he is usually hot and sweaty after having sex with you the first time, and then cold and chilly after the second time. Do you know why?'

'Oh that crazy old fart,' she replied. 'That's because the first time is usually in August and the second time is in January.'

Explain why Edison Electrocuted an Elephant with AC. He wanted people to think AC was too dangerous to use.

Just the opposite. He was trying to discredit AC power by using the electric chair as an example of how dangerous it was. Edison had a lot of money tied up in DC generators and distribution. He didn't want competition, especially from a superior technology.

probably both. It's definitely two different coordinating bodies in overlapping regions, radio wise.

And I wouldn't be surprised if my local coordinating body also missed the fact that there was already another repeater on that frequency that close.

Most are probably only concerned with what they coordinate and don't usually pay attention to other coordinating bodies until there's a conflict.

For example, some of the things I've read about California repeater wars between different coordinating bodies.

In regard to the comment posted by "an_old_friend"

"frank perhaps you should complain about the QRM of the closed repeater
op's to the OO's and the FCC after they are interferely with YOUR transmision and a egal one at

With all due respect to Mr. Morgan's opinion, his comments are absurd at best, and shows a total lack of understanding of repeater systems, the politics involved, and the FCC rules and regulations regarding repeater systems. The repeater in question is not interfering with you. Once a repeater owner asks someone to stay off their machine, and that person continues to get into the repeater, whether intentional or not, that person is considered to be the offending signal. This is especially true with coordinated systems. The FCC views it as you can easily change frequencies, control your power, and radiation of your signal, whereas the repeater, due to the nature of its purpose, and limitations mandated by coordination, cannot.

More than likely, if you keep getting into the repeater, you may end up getting a letter from the FCC asking you to explain why you keep accessing/interfering with a repeater that you have been asked to refrain from accessing. There have been hams who have been in your exact situation. You basically have been told to stay off of the repeater. If you follow the FCC enforcement actions, you can see that the FCC normally sides with a repeater owner, private or not, once you have been notified that you are to stay off the repeater.

The advice I have given of using a yagi antenna and reducing your power should solve the issues. Good luck and 73

In regard to the comment posted by "an_old_friend"

repeater
op's to the OO's and the FCC after they are interferely with YOUR transmision and a egal one at

With all due respect to Mr. Morgan's opinion, his comments are absurd at best, and shows a total lack of understanding of repeater systems, the politics involved, and the FCC rules and regulations regarding repeater systems. The repeater in question is not interfering with you. Once a repeater owner asks someone to stay off their machine, and that person continues to get into the repeater, whether intentional or not, that person is considered to be the offending signal. This is especially true with coordinated systems. The FCC views it as you can easily change frequencies, control your power, and radiation of your signal, whereas the repeater, due to the nature of its purpose, and limitations mandated by coordination, cannot.

More than likely, if you keep getting into the repeater, you may end up getting a letter from the FCC asking you to explain why you keep accessing/interfering with a repeater that you have been asked to refrain from accessing. There have been hams who have been in your exact situation. You basically have been told to stay off of the repeater. If you follow the FCC enforcement actions, you can see that the FCC normally sides with a repeater owner, private or not, once you have been notified that you are to stay off the repeater.

The advice I have given of using a yagi antenna and reducing your power should solve the issues. Good luck and 73

very good and acurate response!

A farmer was sitting in the neighborhood bar getting hammered. A man came in and asked the farmer, "Hey, why are you sitting here on this beautiful day, getting drunk?"

The farmer shook his head and replied, "Some things you just can't explain."

"So what happened that's so horrible?" the man asked as he sat down next to the farmer.

"Well," the farmer said, "today I was sitting by my cow, milking her. Just as I got the bucket 'bout full, she lifted her left leg and kicked over the bucket."

"Okay," said the man, "but that's not so bad."

"Some things you just can't explain," the farmer replied. "So what happened then?" the man asked.

The farmer said, "I took her left leg and tied it to the post on the left." "And then?" "Well, I sat back down and continued to milk her. Just as I got the bucket 'bout full, she took her right leg and kicked over the bucket."

Man laughed and said, "Again?" The farmer replied, "Some things you just can't explain." "So, what did you do then?" the man asked. "I took her right leg this time and tied it to the post on the right."

"And then?"

"Well, I sat back down and began milking her again. Just as I got the bucket about full, the stupid cow knocked over the bucket with her tail."

"Hmmm . . . " the man said and nodded his head.

"Some things you just can't explain," the farmer said.

"So, what did you do?" the man asked.

"Well," the farmer said, "I didn't have anymore rope, so I took off my belt and tied her tail to the rafter. In that moment, my pants fell down and my wife walked in . . . Some things you just can't explain."

Wow, guess it must really suck to be Steve, or anyone who agrees with him on the Morse code issue. Or you.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless
fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has
been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

No one is talking aboytr getting into a repeater. We're talking about being on the same frequency without getting into it and the pl encoded closed repeater owner listening without pl and complaining about the person talking on an different pl open repeater on the same frequency being on the frequency because according to the closed repeater owners, any transmission on the frequency even if no one is talking on the closed repeater is interfering with the closed repeater.

Again, the two repeaters are both only about 30 miles away from me.

So technically, they are both local repeaters to me.

I'm of the opinion that it is not interfering with the closed repeater if there is no
ine talking on the closed repeater when I start transmitting.

If you follow the FCC enforcement actions, you can see that

Then this is a totally different situation. If this is the case, then IMO your are not causing any intentional interference. If it were me, I would contact the FCC WTB and apprise them of the situation, and ask for clarification of the rules for your situaton. If you are in the right, which I believe that you are, and if the FCC provides a written statement of such, I would email a copy of the FCC's response which shows that you are not in violation of the rules to the offending party. There seems to be an unwarranted perception that the first to complain is the first to be believed, and I certainlly would put my complaint before the Commission before he does the same. In my complaint to the Commission, I would include specific facts articulating the time and date of interference that you received, and the names and calls of the parties involved.

Nevertheless, IMO a fixed 3 or 4 element yagi at low power would probably cure the issue. As you noted, both repeaters are in opposite directions and you could effectively null you signal from the offending person, especially since his repeater is 30 miles away.

Of course, you can also post the facts of this situation including the call(s) of the offending party(s) on the more popular sites such as QRZ and Eham. The court of public opinion, especially when hams are involved, just might be all it takes to make this guy go away. If he is viewed as being wrong, his email will become flooded with messages from other hams telling him how he is wrong, and how he has broken X number of rules. Hams just love to chastise other hams when they are wrong.

Well, I haven't been back on that frequency since being warned to stay off. And it might not matter since I'll probably be moving soon.
However, I'll most likely be moving to some apartment where outdoor antennas aren't allowed.

You're correct about FCC rules. However, about the rule of moving to another frequency, it's not always possible. If I wanted to talk to people in that particular location and the open repeater was the only way I could reach that location.

However, my own personal idea about two meters and 70 centimetrs is that you can only depend on simplex operation range in a worst case scenario.

If even that.

However, I'm more concerne about another problem I currently have, nothing to do with the above.

Depends on the age of the CSCE, which are only good for 365 days. If it is less than a year old, I would contact the VE team/or the testing body (i.e. ARRL, W5YI, ect.), that you tested under and see if they can provide a copy. If it is more than a year old, don't waste your time.

For the FCC, I believe that you can just register for a new password and they will send it to the current mailing address that is on your license.

Credits for current and previous licenses
Current Novice License: Since there is no longer a Morse Code requirement, this license confers no credit. You will need to pass element 2 to earn a Technician license.

Current Technician license issued prior to March 21, 1987: This gives you credit for elements 2 and 3 and qualifies you for upgrade to General after completing only paperwork (i.e. no exam).

Expired Technician license issued prior to March 21, 1987: This gives you credit for element 3 only. You will need to pass element 2 to obtain a license and then you will earn a General license.

Current Technician license issued on or after March 21, 1987: This gives you credit for element 2 only. You need to pass element 3 to earn a General class license.

Current General Class or Advanced license: These give you credit for elements 2 and 3. You need to pass element 4 to earn an Amateur Extra license.

Expired Licenses: With the exception of the expired Technician license issued prior to March 21, 1987, an expired license confers no credit.

* Note: if a license has expired but is still within the two year grace period for renewal, it can be applied for the same credit as a current license. However, an expired license confers no operating privileges.

If you are using a license for credit, we must see the original of the license and must file a photocopy of it with your paperwork. If you don't have the original, contact the FCC (1270 Fairfield Rd; Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245). Provide them with as much information about your license: call, approximate date issued, name issued to and address issued to. They may be able to provide you with a letter that can serve as proof. If you use a FCC letter as proof, we must see the original and file a photocopy with your paperwork.

Credit for an unexpired CSCE
A CSCE is a Certificate of successful Completion of an Element and is issued at an exam session when you pass an exam element, but did not earn a new license. All CSCE's expire 365 days after issue. An expired CSCE confers no credit. If you plan on waiting until Hamvention® to submit a CSCE for credit, make sure it will not expire before then.

An unexpired CSCE for element 3 and a current Technician Class license will earn you a General Class license.

Unexpired CSCE's for elements 3 and 4 and a current Technician Class license will earn you an Amateur Extra Class license.

With the elimination of the Morse Code requirement, there is no longer any credit for an element 1 (Morse Code) CSCE.

If you are using an unexpired CSCE for credit, we need to see the original and must file a photocopy with your paperwork. If you have lost your CSCE, do not contact the FCC as they have no record of CSCE's, Instead, contact the local VE team or the VEC that issued the CSCE.

Good luck, btw I have used small Yagi antennas indoors and they do work if pointed towards an exterior wall or window. Small loops for HF also do work in a pinch.

Of course not. The only fraud here is you, it was a farce that you

From www.wjactv.com: Police in Somerset County (PA) are trying to figure out how a radio tower went missing in Windber. Police say a group of people had a very thorough plan to get all 120 feet of steel and copper down from the old Windber radio tower. Police believe the thieves threw cables over the guidelines of the tower and yanked it down with a truck. Police also found cut bolts and torch marks on nearby grass. Police say the tower had to be cut into small pieces in order to get it out of the wooded area, but they can't figure out how they did it without anybody noticing. "There's probably a half a dozen routes that come in and out of that area. At least 20 four-wheelers and ATV riders go through there a day," said Paint Township Police Chief Rick Skiles. The thieves also got away with a 300-pound Penelec transformer full of copper. The radio tower hasn't been used for years, but the family who owns it was in talks with a company to use the tower to bring wireless Internet to Windber. "There was an Internet company that approached my son. That's all gone now, so what're you going to do? He lost a good bit of money," said Jay Shaffer. The Shaffer family is offering a $1,000 reward for any information leading to an arrest. The police chief said convicted could face felony charges. (9/10/08)

==> ARRL, AMATEUR RADIO GEARS UP FOR HANNA, IKE

As the ARRL Headquarters staff continues to support response and recovery efforts in Louisiana and the areas impacted by Hurricane Gustav, yet another storm begins to shift some of the focus eastward.
Tropical Storm Hanna, currently forecast to impact the North and South Carolina coastline early Saturday morning, has begun to activate ARES

137 deaths in Haiti.

According to the National Weather Service (NWS), a hurricane watch is in effect from north of Edisto Beach, South Carolina to Okracoke Inlet. A tropical storm watch remains in effect from Edisto Beach southward to Altamaha Sound, Georgia. A tropical storm warning remains in effect for the Central and Northwestern Bahamas. A tropical storm watch means tropical storm conditions are possible within 36 hours.

ARRL Emergency Preparedness and Response Manager Dennis Dura, K2DCD, has begun to put protocols in place to support any of the ARRL Sections that may be impacted by Hanna. "We are beginning the coordination efforts with the individual Sections that could be on the receiving end of what is becoming an active storm season for the United States mainland. While Hanna currently remains a tropical storm, we must ensure that all Amateur Radio preparations are in place in case the storm turns into a hurricane."

According to ARRL North Carolina Section Manager Tim Slay, N4IB, hams in his state are ready for Hanna. "The Amateur Radio Station at the State Emergency Operations Center is ready to go. We will begin operating from there on Friday at 8 PM and go until about mid-day on Saturday or for however long is needed." Slay also said the Tarheel Emergency Net, the North Carolina HF ARES Net that meets on 3.923 MHz, has been tested and is prepared for the incoming storms.

Slay said that hams in his state have verified that the equipment is all in working order at the State Emergency Operations Center. The South Carolina Healthcare Emergency Amateur Radio Team (SCHEART) <http://www.scheart.us/> -- a system of strategically located repeaters linking 64 South Carolina hospitals by Amateur Radio, forming a statewide emergency communications network -- is also on alert.

ARRL South Carolina Section Manager Jim Boehner, N2ZZ, said South Carolina Governor Mark Sanford has called for a voluntary evacuation for those who live along that state's coastal areas. "It's incredibly important that we be prepared [for Hanna] and for people in areas that could be the most affected to be prudent," Governor Sanford said. "More than anything, this storm may serve as a reminder to everyone along the coast to be prepared for what could still come your way in this season. That means having a full tank of gas, a storm kit and an evacuation plan as these storms head our way."

Ballisty warned that people should not be fooled by Hanna's appearance. "It is important to note that one should not focus solely on [Hanna's] center of circulation," he said. "In fact, the worst of Hanna may not actually be found close to the center of circulation but rather away from it. Impacts such as tropical storm-force gusts, tropical downpours and very choppy surf will be felt hundreds of miles away from the center. That being said, the center of Hanna is projected to make landfall near the coastal South Carolina/North Carolina border, or perhaps just east of there, very early on Saturday morning."

After landfall, Hanna is expected to spread rain and breezy conditions up the mid-Atlantic and Northeast coast on Saturday, impacting several major cities. Due its rapid forward speed, the storm will not linger. Hanna will be exiting off the New England coast by as early as mid-morning Sunday. Rainfall totals are not expected to come anywhere close to what was seen with Hurricanes Fay or Gustav.

"If nothing else, [Hanna is] a good dress rehearsal for Ike if Ike were to come," said Peter Judge, a spokesman for the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency.

Fast on Hanna's heels, Ike is the third major hurricane of the 2008 Atlantic hurricane season; it is not yet threatening any land. A Category 4 hurricane on Thursday, Ike was downgraded to Category 3 early Friday morning.

For now, Ike is of no threat to land, but could threaten the Bahamas by Sunday and into early next week. Residents of the Bahamas should monitor Ike carefully the next several days. Ballisty said that as of now, it is too early to tell if Ike would have any impact on the United States. "The entire Southeast coast should pay close attention to the progress and forecast track of Ike," he said.

Josephine, a tropical storm in the eastern Atlantic remains fairly weak. It continues to struggle with maximum sustained winds now near 50 MPH; this storm is currently no threat to land; however, the storm continues to feel the effects of wind shear and dry air, and this may keep any additional strengthening in check. Josephine will continue to move west-northwest over the next several days and will not be a threat to land in the near future.

==> AMATEUR RADIO OPERATORS WERE READY FOR HURRICANE GUSTAV

After several days of harrowing watching and waiting for Hurricane Gustav to make landfall, the storm slammed into southeast Louisiana Monday afternoon, leaving flooding, wind damage and power outages in its wake and evacuees eager to go home. As Amateur Radio operators across the area moved from an emergency response stance to clean-up, evaluation and repair, the need for some changes to operations and equipment became clear, as well as the vastly improved response as compared to Hurricane Katrina. As the storm made its way inland, ARRL Division, Section and public information volunteers in and around the area impacted by the Category 2 hurricane, reported that they were preparing to deploy themselves and other volunteers to strategic locations once conditions allow.

Throughout the week, staff at ARRL headquarters coordinated conference calls between key emergency communications volunteers, Division and Section leadership officials and ARRL HQ in order to facilitate communications among the participants and to respond to any requests for assistance. Dennis Dura, K2DCD, ARRL Emergency Preparedness and Response Manager, commented: "Based on what we hear and what we receive in the daily situation reports, it will really dictate what kind of response we're going to have. In the beginning of a storm event, we don't have a clear idea of what the needs are. Once those on the scene tell us what they need, we will support them. Requests for emergency communications personnel will come from Section Managers or their designees, and we as an organization will meet those requests. Gustav is different from Katrina in a lot of ways. For one thing, people are much better prepared down there."

On Monday, September 1, Louisiana Section Manager Gary Stratton, K5GLS, told conference call participants that he was expecting to head to the Baton Rouge Red Cross Marshalling Center the next day. He reported that credentialing for ham volunteers who will be sent to locations requesting Amateur Radio support was being handled, and emergency nets were activated. Louisiana Section Emergency Coordinator Jim Coleman, AI5B, expected to head to Baton Rouge Tuesday as well.

Assistant South Texas SM Mike Schwartz, KG5TL, of Muldoon, reported that 4500 New Orleans-area evacuees were relocated to shelters in surrounding counties. He reported that about 20 ham radio operators were ready to travel to where they are needed. "When we find out, we're ready to deploy," he said.

Mississippi SM Malcolm Keown, W5XX, of Vicksburg, expressed concern about the impending effects from Gustav. He said up to 20 inches of rain could fall in central Mississippi, and tornado warnings have been issued.

Southeastern Division Vice Director Sandy Donahue, W4RU, mentioned that numerous Red Cross shelters have been set up in Georgia to handle the needs of evacuees.

Northern Florida Section Manager Paul Eakin, KJ4G, offered the services of four Winlink stations to forward messages from the states more directly affected, as needed.

ARRL Directors Henry Leggette, WD4Q, of the Delta Division, Greg Sarratt, W4OZK, of the Southeastern Division and Coy Day, N5OK, of the West Gulf Division also took part in the September 1 conference call, as did West Gulf Vice Director Dr David Woolweaver, K5RAV, and Delta Vice Director Karl Bullock, WA5TMC.

At Poplarville, Missisippi -- county seat of Pearl River County -- Emergency Operations Center Communications Officer David Moore, N5ELI, said, "We have some stuff to do, but it's not bad." He noted a defective antenna that was discovered during operations for Gustav, as well as a few operational details that need to be worked out before future events.

But, noted ARRL Mississippi Section Public Information Coordinator Larry Wagoner, N5WLW, who manned the Emergency Operations Center in Picayune, Mississippi, essential services were provided in spite of the problems, as contact was maintained with the shelters in the area as well as other individuals and agencies needing assistance.

Harrison County Emergency Coordinator and District Emergency Coordinator for the Gulf Coast District Tom Hammack, W4WLF, echoed that reaction, noting the heavier damage to his coastal community: "The harbors are torn up," he observed, saying that a small tornado had been sighted near the port, which reportedly damaged a few buildings in the area and knocked out power for a time.

"We had communications with the Coast Guard representatives, on 2 meters, as well as marine VHF," Hammack said. "We had hams at other locations as well." He noted that Ed Byrd, KA5VFU, had the radio links to the area hospitals working, too. "In general it went pretty fair," he said. "This was a cakewalk for us compared to Katrina," Hammack noted, adding, "But the farther west went you go, it wasn't any cakewalk at all. Hancock County (located due west of Harrison County) got hit pretty hard."

North of the coast, Tim Purvis, N5UDK, Emergency Coordinator for Stone County and Assistant Emergency Coordinator for the Gulf Coast District noted that one mobile home was destroyed in the storm. "All in all, it went real well," he said. Like the other officials in the area, he said the storm was a learning exercise for the Amateur Radio community. "We need to get our repeater to a higher location and we need to get more people with emergency Yagis." He said in some cases, hams in outlying areas of the county had a hard time making it into the repeater during the storm. "These are people who may have lost or taken down their antennas," he said, "and they were trying to operate on a mag mount on top of a refrigerator from 20 miles away."

One problem noted by several officials in the area was the signal propagation from the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency (MSEMA) office near Jackson. "A new antenna up there would help," said one. "We had a real hard time copying the signal from MSEMA," said another.

Local hams were not the only ones learning lessons from the storm. Purvis noted that while the MSEMA official at the Stone County Emergency operations Center was familiar with Amateur Radio, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) representative did not know anything about ham radio and the service that hams provide before the storm. By the end of operations Tuesday, she had quite an education, Purvis said, noting that she was not only very impressed with what hams can do, but now wants to become licensed as an Amateur Radio operator herself and is very interested in SKYWARN operations. "We have a feather in our cap on that one," Purvis said.

SKYWARN operations went well across the region, as hams from all over the southern Mississippi area called in to report sightings of severe

weather and damage from the storm. "Like you (in Pearl River County), we were inundated by warnings and reports," Purvis said, adding, "I just wish we could get all those people to sign in on a regular basis."

Local officials said the area fared much better in Gustav than in 2005's Hurricane Katrina. "Compared to Katrina, we didn't lose any local communications, phone or Internet. In Katrina, they lost everything," said Purvis. "Our major function was communications with the shelters, storm spotting and being on standby for other services," he added.

Stone County had one shelter open, which closed early Tuesday. Those requiring longer stays were transferred to shelters in Picayune and Hattiesburg. The Stone County shelter housed about 50 people at one point. The shelter in Picayune had about 130 people maximum -- mostly from Louisiana, where nearby New Orleans and St Tammany Parishes remained closed Tuesday.

By Tuesday morning, crews were out evaluating damage to local power lines, cable TV, phone lines and trees, and hams were getting ready for the next time they are called to serve, keeping a close eye on Hurricane Hanna and Hurricane Ike.

As Amateur Radio operators prepared for Hurricane Gustav, the ARRL deployed complete radio stations comprised of industry-donated Amateur Radio equipment, thanks to the generous contributions of ARRL members to the Ham Aid Fund. Created in 2005 to assist with the response to Hurricane Katrina, the Ham Aid Fund is designated to finance Amateur Radio equipment needed for disaster response. In preparation for Hurricane Gustav, ARRL received requests for radio equipment from Louisiana and Texas. The shipping costs for this equipment were covered by the Ham Aid Fund.

According to Assistant Manager of the ARRL Membership and Volunteer Programs Department Norm Fusaro, W3IZ, several kits were shipped to Louisiana; Fusaro is handling Ham Aid requests during Hurricane Gustav. "We sent three HF kits, 3 VHF/UHF kits and a combination kit complete with HF, VHF and handheld transceivers to the Louisiana Office of Homeland Security and Emergency Preparedness (GOHSEP) facility in Baton Rouge, as well as four VHF/UHF base antennas and a support box that included coax, rope, wire antennas and connectors." Fusaro also said that a 600 W amplifier was sent to Jim Coleman, AI5B, in Bogalusa, Louisiana to be used at the Emergency Operations Center there, and an HF radio was sent to Joel Colman, NO5FD, of New Orleans, replacing his rig that was damaged during set up at the firehouse.

"To me, these Go-Kits ramp up ARRL's ability to support Amateur Radio volunteers in the field when the next big disaster hits," said ARRL Chief Development Officer Mary Hobart, K1MMH. "They won't replace or supplant anything that's already on the ground and working well, but the

In setting up these Go Kits, League staffers consulted with volunteers who were in the field during Hurricane Katrina to find out what gear served them best or what they wished they'd had but didn't. The Go Kits, stowed in rugged, waterproof Pelican 1650 containers, enable the League to loan out needed equipment on a moment's notice. "The idea is that this makes it easy to ship," explains Fusaro, "and since they're less than 50 pounds apiece, they can be shipped by air."

The HF Kit contains a 100 W HF transceiver, a tuner and antenna, a microphone and a power supply. The VHF/UHF Kit includes a dualband mobile transceiver, power supply, headset, 10 handheld transceivers and a supply of alkaline batteries. In the Handheld Transceiver Kit are eight dualband handheld transceivers and antennas, plus a stock of extra batteries. The Support Kit includes a length of BuryFlex RG-213 coaxial cable, rope, 15 foot jumper cables with battery clamps at one end and an Anderson Powerpole on the other. The kit includes various fittings and adapters to connect to the power distribution unit and to make RF feed line connections. All kits contain any necessary manuals.

Hobart said it's imperative to sustain and enhance ham radio's emergency communication capabilities for the future: "Disasters happen to be one place Amateur Radio can shine," she pointed out. "We need to maintain a high level of readiness to do those things that are second nature to ARES members, but that the public is just coming to recognize." Making the Go Kits available to ARES teams, Hobart said, will help to cement Amateur Radio's position as a community resource. "We want to be able to ensure that we have the personnel and the equipment," she said. "With a disaster of any magnitude, we need to be ready."

Since the arrival of Hurricane Gustav, Hobart said that the Ham Aid fund has been depleted. "With more storms on the horizon, the ARRL is seeking member contributions to rebuild the Ham Aid Fund. This vital lifeline of resources to support the ARRL Field Organization and Amateur Radio Volunteers will benefit from the renewed generosity of radio amateurs." Contributions in any amount can be made online <https://www.arrl.org/forms/development/donations/basic/>.

==> LOOK FOR THE OCTOBER ISSUE OF QST IN YOUR MAILBOX

The October issue of QST -- our first-ever Radiosport issue -- is jam-packed with all sorts of things today's Amateur Radio operator needs, with a special focus on Amateur Radio contesting. From product reviews to experiments to public service, the upcoming issue of QST has something for just about everyone.

Steve Clifford, K4GUN, offer his views "On Becoming a Rove Warrior." In this article, Clifford expounds on the joys of roving -- mobile operating in VHF+ contests -- and offers some lessons and tips gleaned from his first roving operation. Gil McElroy, VE1PKD, gives readers "A History of Radiosport." Did you know that CQ CONTEST could be heard on the bands as far back as the early 1920s? Discover the origins of how contesting began as McElroy takes us on a contesting history journey.

In addition to the articles featuring contesting, ARRL Contributing Editor H. Ward Silver, N0AX, has put together an 8 page radiosport insert -- you can easily find this section, thanks to the bright yellow page edges! This section will feature such articles as how to interpret your Log Checking Report, guidelines for the upcoming contest season and a list of resources that no contester should be without, as well as a listing of major contests throughout the year.

ARRL Contest Branch Manager Sean Kutzko, KX9X, announces how 2009 is the Year of the State QSO Party. Be sure to check out October QST to find out more about this exciting new event. Of course, no issue of QST would be complete without "Contest Corral" and "This Month in Contesting."

ARRL News Editor S. Khrystyne Keane, K1SFA, describes the events and decisions from the July ARRL Board of Directors meeting, as well as announces the six winners who were bestowed awards for 2007-2008.

If you're in the market for a new rig, be sure to check out October's Product Review: NCJ Managing Editor Rick Lindquist, WW3DE, gives his take on the ICOM IC-7700 HF and 6 meter transceiver. In his review, Lindquist says "The IC-7700's attributes seemed shaped more toward the serious contester and DXer, but it's a superior performer with features enough to attract any active HF or 6 meter enthusiast. The price will put the radio out of reach for some, but this piece of radio gear more than fills the average ham's desires, not to mention the operating desk."

Of course, there are the usual columns you know and love in October QST: "Hints & Kinks," "The Doctor Is IN," "How's DX," "Eclectic Technology," "World Above 50 MHz," "Hamspeak" and more. Look for your October issue to arrive soon. QST is the official journal of ARRL, the national association for Amateur Radio. QST is just one of the many benefits of ARRL membership. To join or renew your ARRL membership, please visit the ARRL Web page <http://www.arrl.org/join>.

==> MEMBERSHIP MANAGER TO LEAVE ARRL

On Friday, October 3, the ARRL HQ family will say goodbye to Membership Manager Katie Breen, W1KRB, as she moves away from her native Connecticut. In her short time here, Breen quickly became popular as she traveled to hamfests and conventions around the country -- as well as making videos that have been posted online -- promoting the League to members and non-members alike; she headed up the ARRL team at the 2008 Dayton Hamvention this past May <http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2008/05/17/10103/?nc=1>.

"This job was much more than a job to me," Breen said. "Amateur Radio became part of my life. When I started, I honestly didn't think I'd ever really understand the technical side of things, never mind actually build anything. Since coming to the ARRL, I've built my own antennas and a small transceiver; I couldn't have done any of this without my Elmers. Because of this experience, I've become a strong proponent of mentoring -- you don't have to be a ham for 50 years to become an Elmer."

Breen said that talking to hams around the country and then meeting them at hamfests, as well as connecting with new friends all over the world, has been an "amazing experience. I've loved going to Amateur Radio events and working with countless volunteers that give of their time, energy, experience and funds to continue to promote the Amateur Radio Service. I've had the unique opportunity to spend a lot of time with our field volunteers and I have seen personally the dedication and passion these folks have -- I think they are some of the biggest unsung heroes in ham radio. I don't know of any other hobby or service that has such dedication and passion. I am proud to have had the opportunity to make the personal connection, to bring a piece of ARRL Headquarters to our members and to help develop a sense of belonging for our members."

Breen's supervisor, ARRL Sales and Marketing Manager Bob Inderbitzen, NQ1R, said that she will be missed "a great deal. Members -- and particularly new members -- appreciate her enthusiasm as an advocate for ham radio and ARRL. We've all enjoyed Katie's willingness to share her own stories as a new radio amateur."

Inderbitzen said the search to find a qualified candidate for ARRL Membership Manager is underway. Interested individuals should have a background in membership marketing and experience developing membership recruitment and retention strategies. An understanding of the Amateur Radio Service is desired. The complete job posting and instructions for applying can be found online on the ARRL's Job Announcement Web page <http://www.arrl.org/announce/jobs/>.

==> IARU REGION 2 EC: "ACTIVE MEMBER-SOCIETIES ARE VITAL TO ENSURE AMATEUR RADIO'S FUTURE"

Late last month in Panama, the Executive Committee of IARU Region 2 <http://www.iaru-r2.org/> held its annual meeting. According to IARU Region 2 President Reinaldo Leandro, YV5AMH, the importance of having active and inclusive IARU Member-Societies is the "only way to ensure the future of Amateur Radio." Leandro said this theme was "underlined" throughout the meeting. The United States is a member of Region 2.

At the meeting, the Executive Committee called on the Region 2 Area Directors to establish links at the area and country level to work with an Emergency Communications and Monitoring System. Once those links are established, the Area Directors will work with recently designated Coordinators in the Region <http://www.iaru-r2.org/coordinators/>.

The Committee heard reports regarding the IARU's participation in the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL) and the Caribbean Telecommunications Union (CTU). The CTU is aware of the importance of radio amateurs in emergency situations and has requested the IARU's support to have active Member-Societies in its region. CTU countries include Anguilla, Antigua and Barbuda, The Bahamas, Barbados, Belize, Cayman Islands, Dominican Republic, Grenada, Guyana, Jamaica, Montserrat, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Suriname, Turks and Caicos, and Trinidad and Tobago; the IARU is an Associate Member of CTU.

Other actions by the Executive Committee included:

* The Executive Committee initiated preparations to participate in Telecom Americas 2010, to be held in Buenos Aires, Argentina in March 2010 <http://www.itu.int/americas2010/>.

* The Committee requested the support of the Region 2 Member-Societies in order get more countries in the region to sign on to the International Amateur Radio Permit (IARP) <http://www.arrl.org/FandES/field/regulations/io/>. Countries that currently accept the IARP are Argentina, Brazil, Canada, El Salvador, Panama, Peru, Trinidad and Tobago, United States, Uruguay and Venezuela.

* The Committee announced that an introductory study guide for all those interested in becoming new radio amateurs will be made available in Spanish within the next few months. This guide will be published in a digital format, allowing for easy distribution.

* Emergency Communications Coordinator Cesar Pio Santos, HR2P, advised the Executive Committee that he is compiling an inventory of emergency networks in Region 2. The Committee decided that the listing should be completed "as soon as possible" and underlined its importance to the region.

The next Region 2 Executive Committee meeting will be in September 2009 in Lima, Peru.

The meeting was attended by President Reinaldo Leandro, YV5AMH; Vice President Dario Jurado, HP1DJ; Secretary Ramon Santoyo V., XE1KK; Treasurer and Area E Director Noel E. Donawa, 9Y4NED; Area A Director Daniel A. Lamoureux, VE2KA; Area B Director Rod Stafford, W6ROD; Area C Director Pedro Rodriguez, CO2RP; Area D Director Marco Tulio Gudiel, TG9AGD, and Area G Director Reinaldo Szama, LU2AH. IARU President Larry Price, W4RA was also present, representing the IARU International Secretariat.

On Thursday, September 11, the Pentagon Amateur Radio Club (PARC) will operate a Special Event station commemorating the 7th anniversary of the attacks that occurred on the Pentagon, the World Trade Center and over Pennsylvania in 2001 <http://www.k4af.org/>.

This special event will be held in conjunction with President Bush's visit to the Pentagon to dedicate the new Pentagon Memorial <http://www.defenselink.mil/home/features/2008/0708_memorial/index.html> , honoring the 184 people, both at the Pentagon and on American Airlines flight 77, who lost their lives in the attacks. Operators will be on 10, 15, 20, 40 and 80 meters -- both phone and CW -- with plans to operate on a 12 hour basis (1200-2400 UTC). There will be a special QSL card available for stations that work K4AF.

For more information, please contact Gary Sessums, KC5QCN <kc5qcn@arrl.net>. QSL via PARC, PO Box 2322, Arlington, VA 22202.

==>SOLAR UPDATE

Tad "Happy we who can bask in this warm September Sun" Cook, K7RA, this week reports: We're still looking at a quiet sun, but currently a solar wind is disturbing the Earth's magnetic field. Six meter operators -- after enjoying a fine season of sporadic E propagation this summer -- may see some added excitement from auroral propagation. The planetary A index was 33 on Thursday, September 4, the highest daily number in over a year. I don't know when it was last that high, but the closest recent numbers were 32 on April 23, and 31 on March 27. Planetary A index for September 5-10 is predicted to be 20, 15, 8, 5, 5 and 5. It is expected to rise to 20 on September 14. Sunspot numbers for August 28-September 3 were 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0 and 0 with a mean of 0. The 10.7 cm flux was 66.1, 66.8, 67.1, 66.7, 65.8, 66 and 66.2 with a mean of 66.4. Estimated planetary A indices were 2, 3, 3, 3, 4, 3 and 7 with a mean of 3.6. Estimated mid-latitude A indices were 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2 and 7 with a mean of 2.7. There has been some news about the current solar minimum regarding continuous days without spots. August was the first calendar month with no sunspots since 1913. Of course, there have been periods longer than 30 days, but generally over a two calendar-month period in which there were some sunspots in each month. As of Thursday, September 4, there have been 46 continuous days with no spots. That is the seventh longest period of no spots, looking back over 150 years to the mid-19th century. If there are no sunspots through this Sunday, at 49 days this will be the fourth longest spot-free period. For more information concerning radio propagation, visit the ARRL Technical Information Service Propagation page <http://www.arrl.org/tis/info/propagation.html>. To read this week's Solar Report in its entirety, check out the W1AW Propagation Bulletin page <http://www.arrl.org/w1aw/prop/>. * ARRL Sets up E-mail Addresses for Use During Hurricanes, Tropical Storms: In an effort to streamline hurricane support operations at ARRL Headquarters, the League has set up two e-mail addresses for hams to pose questions or relay information to HQ Staff relating to hurricane or named tropical storm events. If you need to communicate with ARRL HQ regarding these storms, please use <hurricane@arrl.org> or <hurricane@arrl.net>. These e-mail addresses will be monitored during each storm's descent on the US, as well as throughout the hurricane season.

Congratulations, Steven! The winner of the QST Cover Plaque award -- given to the author or authors of the best article in each issue -- is determined by a vote of ARRL members on the QST Cover Plaque Poll Web page <http://www.arrl.org/members-only/QSTvote.html>. Cast a ballot for your favorite article in the September issue by Tuesday, September 30.

* MARS Assists with Hurricane H&W Traffic for American Soldiers in Iraq, Afghanistan: Army Captain Jeff Hammer, N9NIC, who represents the Army Military Affiliate Radio System (Army MARS) <http://www.netcom.army.mil/mars/> in Iraq, has appealed to the families of troops deployed overseas that have been affected by the recent tropical storms and hurricanes to let their loved ones know all is well at home. "There are a lot of soldiers from the Gulf States here in Iraq," Hammer said, "and their families may be impacted by the hurricanes and not have a way to communicate with their soldier to let them know their status in the coming week(s). If you are unable to deliver hurricane-related Health and Welfare messages from a family member to a service member in Iraq due to lack of communication assets or insufficient address information, send them directly through an Amateur Radio operator or Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS) operator <AEN5NAA@winlink.org>. MARS operators currently deployed in Iraq will do their best to get all messages delivered immediately." Hammer said that Army MARS also can handle messages to service members in Afghanistan, but delivery may be delayed. Direct entry of MARSgrams is available via the MARSgram Web site <http://www.mymars.org/>. The site provides full instructions and a message form that will be transmitted automatically via the Army MARS system.

Mark. I for one do not read any of your insipid posts with zzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzzz as a topic line.
Most others do not, either. Your juvenile posts serve no purpose.

I skip over them. They are beneath my dignity.

Now, if you could see fit to respond accordingly and make cohesive retorts, you 'might' see responses that are civil. Obviously you are incapable of that.

A city boy wanted to marry a country girl. She insists that he has to ask her father for her hand in marriage. So off he goes to their farm to ask her father.

"I want to marry your daughter."

"Well, my boy you will have to prove to me that you are a man worthy of my daughter."

"I'll do anything for my love," says the young man.

"You see that cow out in the pasture? Well, go screw it."

A little puzzled the boy says, "OK, anything for my love."

On his return of doing his deed, he asks, "Now can I marry your daughter?"

"Nope," says the father, "See that goat over yonder? Well, Go screw it."

Again the boy obliges and returns saying, "Now can I marry your daughter?"

"Nope. Not yet -- one more thing. See that pig in the sty? Well go do it, too."

Once again he obliges and returns. This time the farmer is amazed at seeing this boy doing these deeds just to marry his daughter.

So the father finally tells the boy, "Now you can marry my daughter."

To which the boy replies, "Screw your daughter, how much you want for that pig?"

From the ARRL...

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the Amateur Radio station at the National Hurricane Center.

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219 reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

From the ARRL...

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area
either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical
SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria
is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo
said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with
the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

From the ARRL...

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area
either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo
said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

Actually, I run a similar amp on 10-40m in my pickup, what makes the listing a violation? If I ever decide to get rid of it, I can't sell it on ebay?

Wow. I am certainly no attorney, but ebay seems "ripe for picking on that one."

I mean, if they are illegally preventing some from participating in the God-given-right-of-capitalism, it seems like a sin; doesn't it? LOL it offends certain folks and ebay can't tell legal amps so the whinners win

maybe you should inform ebay which ones are illegal and be a good guy to the ham community!

Since the "legal" ones either have a tuned circuit with takes the output to ground and burns up the finals if you attempt to hit 11 meters, or a choke which cuts drive at 11 meter freqs, or both ... I don't think they can tell at ebay!

Most truckers actually use ham equip. (or, "legal equipment"), they just have cut out the "protections."

So in the end, what good is all of it?

And, every ham I know, knows that if you want top dollar for ancient equipment he/she is done with--sell it to a trucker! LOL

I mean, it is sort of like the "copy protection" on movies--it doesn't work, teenagers worldwide copy and burn movies with free software--but the industry claims it works! Go figure ...

Where do they get "1000 Watt Amp"?

"Power Output (RMS) 350 Watts Power Output (PEP) 650 Watts
Driven Power (RMS) 450 Watts Driven Power (PEP) 1000 Watts"

Sounds more like an attenuator to me.

I once attended a CB shootout where they only measured forward power, not power delivered to the antenna. The higher the SWR, the better they liked it.

Yeah, screwy specs. Although I have never used this particular amp, it probably hits full out at ~40w-80w rms. That is what the small box amp they usually sell is for (most will have them when selling amps this big), takes 4w to ~80w then you drive the amp ...

I have an ancient CMI (has a Palo Alto/Menlo Park address and a couple of hams/engineers there built and sold them) which does a solid 80m-10m, 500w rms at 40w rms drive (I drive it with ~25w), pep follows the same linear curve ... it is marked "Amateur Amplifier" on the front panel and was purchased at an electronics surplus store in Livermore, CA in the 80's. I got it for next to nothing thinking I would have to replace one or more of the power transistors--it was only a diode in the thermal protection circuit which had failed ...

It seems quite legal to me, even though I know they were marketed to CB'ers in the 70's and enjoyed widespread "diesel usage." On a scope it puts out a beautiful signal on all the bands I have used/measured, however, as with any high power amp, the drive signal needs to be clean to excellent tolerances. However, I would entertain arguments on how it is "illegal."

I am guessing, but I guess it is the fact it spans 80m to ~40 Mhz which makes it illegal? However, when it was sold, I don't believe it was illegal to allow amps to cover the 10m and 11m bands ... but would have to research that now to make sure ...

Nowadays, I don't believe you can even buy an amp which covers the 10m band ... you must first "modify" the amp ... someone more knowledgeable on the fine points of the rules/regs would know for sure ...

My antenna on the pickup has been though h*ll, bent, dented, etc. (I have forgotten to fold it down on low overhangs), at one time the amp was operating into a 4+:1 SWR by the time I noticed (smelled something getting hot, grabbed the unit behind the seat and burnt my hand!) It is one tough amp! I run a shortened 1/2 wave with a gamma match on 40m and a simple 10m SS whip, switchable ...

Regards,
JS

From the ARRL...

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area
either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo
said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area
either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo
said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

From the ARRL...

VoIP Hurricane Net Prepares, Seeks Assistance for Ike

The VoIP Hurricane Net is looking for Amateur Radio operators who have an EchoLink or IRLP node near or in the projected path of Hurricane
Ike. The VoIP Weather Net works in conjunction with WX4NHC, the

"What we are looking for is stations that are either in the affected area that can relay reports to our Net or those just outside of the disaster zone," said VoIP Hurricane Net Director of Operations Rob Macedo, KD1CY. "These folks may have contacts in the affected area
either through other hams via 40/75 meter HF or friends and family that may be in the affected area able to relay reports via the typical SKYWARN reporting criteria. If they can relay from local EOC traffic from VHF/UHF nets, that is also extremely helpful." Reporting criteria is available on the VoIP Hurricane Net Web site. Macedo said activation information will also be posted.

"If you can't connect to us directly due to local operations," Macedo
said, "any assistance in providing liaisons to our Net, or ability to send liaisons to your links, would be extremely helpful. We are willing to coordinate that as needed."

The VoIP Hurricane Net meets on the WX-TALK Node: 7203/IRLP 9219
reflector system. According to Macedo, a call-up of Texas Gulf stations and stations outside the affected area that have contact with the affected area will be done at 9:30 PM (EDT) on Thursday evening, September 11. There will be a full Net activation starting Friday morning or early Friday afternoon that will last through Saturday night and into Sunday morning as long as Ike is a hurricane.

As of 8 AM Thursday, Hurricane Ike, currently a Category 2 storm, was 575 miles east of Brownsville, Texas and about 270 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. According to the National Weather Service (NWS), if Ike follows its current track, the center of the storm will be approaching the northwestern Gulf of Mexico coast sometime late Friday, possibly intensifying into a Category 3 hurricane over the next day or two.

Due to the pending landfall of Large Hurricane Ike, the following frequencies may be of interest to those seeking real time information from the affected area(s).

No, these are not "made up" comments, but real posts that Mark Morgan has made.

And for the life of me, I cannot even begin to comprehend why a dolt such as he would not take a few corrective measures to clarify his oddball posts.

Spell check programs are a dime a dozen, and free. Yet Mark won't avail himself of them.

Could it be that Mark has some off-the-wall sort of keyboard with keys in odd places that cause these glaring spelling errors?
Yeah...that must be it. He must be using one of those cheap Chinese keyboards that has no vowels.

How else can it be explained?

My first guitar

I recently bought my first guitar. A new music shop opened up in Lake Villa. They seem to cater to the rap/hip-hop scene, but I thought I could find a good acoustic guitar there. The owners name is Drumondo, a tall african american man with a bald head and a tear drop tattooed on his cheek.

He informed me that he had a nice Gibson acoustic he just got in on a trade in the back if I would like to look. I said sure and followed him to the back. I entered the room and found it empty except for several posters on the walls praising Louis Farrakan and Fidel Castro. I heard a noise and turned to find Drumondo locking the door.

He had an animal like look in his eyes and says " I wants you white boy" He grabbed me, handcuffed me and sat me in a chair.As he pulled down my tightie whities he grunted these primordial sounds and started drooling. He unzipped his fly and pulled out the biggest dick I've ever seen. This nigger was hung, 12 inches if it was an inch! I watched in horror as he stroked it and greased it with vaseline. He looked at me and told me to call him nigger.

Then he shoved a greased finger up my ass. I screamed in pain as he grunted and pumped my asshole until he blew a massive nut. After he finished, he wiped his dick with a towl and kissed my asshole. He told me I could have the acoustic free of charge but I seem to have lost my desire to play ..

NWS TPC/NATIONAL HURRICANE CENTER MIAMI FL AL092008
500 AM EDT SAT SEP 13 2008

THE 40 NM WIDE EYE OF IKE MADE LANDFALL ON THE UPPER TEXAS COAST
JUST AFTER 0700 UTC. AIRCRAFT AND RADAR DATA INDICATE THAT THE LANDFALL INTENSITY WAS 95 KT...CATEGORY 2 ON THE SAFFIR SIMPSON SCALE. SURFACE OBSERVATIONS SUGGEST THE LANDFALL PRESSURE WAS NEAR 952 MB. THE STORM HAS NOT YET HAD TIME TO SIGNIFICANTLY WEAKEN...
SO 95 KT IS THE INITIAL INTENSITY FOR THIS ADVISORY. IKE SHOULD WEAKEN AS THE CENTER MOVES FARTHER INLAND...WITH THE CYCLONE
FORECAST TO DROP BELOW HURRICANE STRENGTH BY LATE SATURDAY AFTERNOON AND BELOW TROPICAL STORM STRENGTH ON SUNDAY. IKE IS EXPECTED TO LOSE TROPICAL CHARACTERISTICS BY 48 HR AND BE ABSORBED INTO A FRONTAL ZONE THEREAFTER.

THE INITIAL MOTION IS A RATHER WOBBLY 325/11. IKE IS ROUNDING THE WESTERN PERIPHERY OF A DEEP-LAYER RIDGE OVER THE SOUTHEASTERN UNITED STATES...AND IT SHOULD RECURVE AND ACCELERATE INTO THE WESTERLIES DURING THE NEXT 24-36 HR. ALL GUIDANCE AGREES WITH THIS SCENARIO...WITH THE GUIDANCE SHOWING A LITTLE SPREAD IN THE FORWARD SPEED AFTER RECURVATURE. THE NEW FORECAST TRACK IS NUDGED A LITTLE TO THE EAST OF THE PREVIOUS TRACK AND LIES NEAR THE CENTER OF THE GUIDANCE ENVELOPE.

EVEN THOUGH IKE HAS MADE LANDFALL...IT REMAINS A VERY LARGE AND DANGEROUS HURRICANE WITH EFFECTS FELT AT LONG DISTANCES FROM THE CENTER. WATER LEVELS ALONG PORTIONS OF THE UPPER TEXAS AND SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA COASTS MAY CONTINUE TO RISE FOR SEVERAL MORE HOURS. ADDITIONALLY...HURRICANE-FORCE WINDS MAY OCCUR WELL INLAND NEAR AND TO THE EAST OF THE CENTER OF IKE.

Follow the advice in the following paragraphs. If he is as kooky as you say, then nominating him should get a good response in about 3-6 months of presentation.

"How do I present a Kook on this group?

The preferred technique is to get the suspected Kook to start posting to AUK so that we can all see him/her/it in all their first-hand Glory. You can do this by posting followups to the suspect's weirder messages, with your followups nonchalantly crossposted to AUK. If the suspect responds to your messages without editing the Newsgroups line, you've achieved your goal.

Another acceptable method is to repost, complete and unedited, one or two of the suspected Kook's recent rants. If you do this, please provide a brief intro in the header describing what the hell you're doing, such as indicating who this person is, what group you found the message on, or why you think the rest of us should give a rat's @$$ about it."

> Or he should have his own award. for the NOBODY EVER REPLIES NO MATTER > WHAT I WRITE AWARD.

"Golden Killfile

Given to the most killfile-worthy net.kooks on Usenet. This award recognizes exceptional killfilable merit; if you are unworthy enough to be ignored by everyone on the face of the earth, you are eligible for this award."

Of course, you'll have to allow "punka" to convince us (there is no us) first.

Agreed. He is not worth bothering with.

917. Why KB9RQZ obsessively and endlessly posts "zzzz..."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy

From: DeLorean <delorean@nim.bstrs>
Message-ID: <zzzzzzzzzz.zzzzzzzzzz.is.me@nim.bstrs>
Source record: 224937
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

Mark has a goal he wants to reach by means of his "zzzz ..." posts. He wants to obliterate all topics displayed by Google Groups, and replace them with only "zzzz...". He thinks that he will be "hiding" RRAP posts that way.

More than likely, Mark is looking at a Google Groups topics display, such as the one at the following link:

http://groups.google.com/group/rec.radio.amateur.policy/topics?hl=en&gvc=2

If you go there, you can see Mark's clear effort to mask the subject lines.

There are many obvious problems with this approach, but Mark appears to be oblivious to all of them. First, people not using Google will not have any topics masked. Secondly, even Google Groups users have many other choices of how RRAP is displayed, and if one of those is chosen, the topics will not be masked. Chances are, Mark only sees the display that looks that way because his Google preferences are set to it.

So Mark's goal isn't really reachable, but he still obsessively attempts to reach it by changing almost all topics to "zzzz...".

It is very OCD behavior indeed.

If you want to get under Mark's skin, change the subject line back to its original content when you follow up to one of his posts. Even better, change the subject of one of his (rare) original posts to "zzzz..." so that he can't find it among all of the other threads he's watching. When you do that, it makes Mark vewy, vewy angwy, and he calls YOU the thread hijacker.

But there's no chance of getting Mark to stop this antisocial behavior on his own, as the past three years should have demonstrated to even the densest among us. Mark must be removed from RRAP to restore it, just as he had to be removed from the CCRAA to assure its viability. There is no middle ground available when dealing with a madman - none at all.

Mars Petcare US Issues Voluntary Recall of Everson, PA Plant Dry Pet Food Product due to Potential Salmonella Contamination
Contact:
Debra Fair
(973) 691-3536

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- Fanklin, Tennessee -- September 12, 2008 -- Today, Mars Petcare US announced a voluntary recall of products manufactured at its Everson, Pennsylvania facility. The pet food is being voluntarily recalled because of potential contamination with Salmonella serotypeSchwarzengrund. This voluntary recall only affects the United States.

Salmonella can cause serious infections in dogs and cats, and, if there is cross contamination caused by handling of the pet food, in people as well, especially children, the aged, and people with compromised immune systems. Healthy people potentially infected with Salmonella should monitor themselves for some or all of the following symptoms: nausea, vomiting, diarrhea or bloody diarrhea, abdominal cramping and fever. On rare occasions, Salmonella can result in more serious ailments, including arterial infections, endocarditis, arthritis, muscle pain, eye irritation, and urinary tract symptoms. Consumers exhibiting these signs after having contact with this product should contact their healthcare providers.

Pets with Salmonella infections may be lethargic and have diarrhea or bloody diarrhea, fever, and vomiting. Some pets will have only decreased appetite, fever and abdominal pain. Animals can be carriers with no visible symptoms and can potentially infect other animals or humans. If your pet has consumed the recalled product and has these symptoms, please contact your veterinarian.

The company stopped production at the Everson facility on July 29, 2008 when it was alerted of a possible link between dry pet food produced at the plant and two isolated cases of people infected with Salmonella Schwarzengrund.

Even though no direct link between product produced at Everson and human or pet illness has been made, Mars Petcare US is taking precautionary action to protect pets and their owners by announcing a voluntary recall of all products produced at the Everson facility beginning February 18, 2008 until July 29, 2008 when we stopped production.

The company is continuing to work collaboratively with the FDA to determine the nature and source of Salmonella Schwarzengrund at the Everson facility. Since it has not yet identified the source of the Salmonella Schwarzengrund at the Everson facility, Mars Petcare US does not plan to resume production out of a commitment to the safety of our pet owners and their pets, customers, and associates.

The top priority of Mars Petcare US has always been and continues to be the health and welfare of pets and their owners. Consumers can continue to have confidence in the quality and safety of the products produced at other Mars Petcare US facilities. Only those products which were produced at the Everson facility are impacted by the voluntary recall.

Many of the brands involved in the recall are national brands produced at multiple facilities. A chart for all products is below. For example, PEDIGREE® is manufactured in numerous facilities throughout the country, and Everson represents a very small portion of the manufacturing base - 2.7 percent of total PEDIGREE® production.

Mars Petcare US will work with retail customers to ensure that the recalled products are not on store shelves. These products should not be sold or fed to pets. In the event that consumers believe they have purchased products affected by this voluntary recall, they should return the product to the store where they purchased it for a full refund. Specific product details and other information can be found at www.petcare.mars.com

Please find recalled pet food UPC information below.

The products listed below are made at our Everson facility on behalf of a variety of retailers. All code dates, with the exception of PEDIGREE®, are listed in a similar format as noted below:
Consumers should look for "17" as the first two digits of the second line.
Sample:
Best By Feb 18 09
17 1445 1

For PEDIGREE® the Everson code date format is as follows:

Consumers should look for "PAE" on the bottom line - the sixth, seventh and eighth digits. Sample:
PEDIGREE ® Small Crunchy Bites
Best Before 02/2009
808G1PAE01 12:00

In an effort to prevent the transmission of Salmonella from pets to family members and care givers, the FDA recommends that everyone follow appropriate pet food handling guidelines when feeding their pets. A list of safe pet food handling tips can be found at:
www.fda.gov/consumer/updates/petfoodtips080307.html

Pet owners who have questions about the recall should call 1-877-568-4463 or visit www.petcare.mars.com.

You eliminate nothing you fat retard.

As DeLorean pointed out "Secondly, even Google Groups users have many other choices of how RRAP is displayed, and if one of those is chosen, the topics will not be masked."

And that is how most folks who have a brain instead of a "brian"choose to display Google Groups when using it as a reader.

MINUTES OF THE AUGUST 5, 2008 MEETING
Glenn, asked this question of the President. “Mark, in the interest of the CCRAA would you be willing to step down as President of the organization.?” The answer given by Mark was “No!" In view of the “turbulence” that occurred, the Property Chairman’s report did not get read. A motion made by Glenn, and seconded by Roy to “Remove Mark, KB9RQZ from the office of President of the CCRAA” was introduced, and a discussion followed. When it came to a vote, there was one ABSTENTION, one NO vote, 11 YES votes, and the motion carried.

YES YES YES YES YES YES YES YES YES YES YES vs. NO

Again congratulations to the CCRAA along with Ham Island.com, and QRZ.com, for taking a stand against a bad ham a abuser of usenet amd this group.

A plane leaves Los Angeles airport under the control of a Jewish captain. His copilot is Chinese. It's the first time they've flown together, and an awkward silence between the two seems to indicate a mutual dislike.

Once they reach cruising altitude, the Jewish captain activates the auto-pilot, leans back in his seat, and mutters, 'I don't like Chinese.'

'No rike Chinese?' asks the copilot, '....why not?'

'You people bombed Pearl Harbor, that's why!'

'No, no,' the co-pilot protests, 'Chinese not bomb Peahl Hahbah! That Japanese, not Chinese.'

'Japanese, Chinese, Vietnamese... doesn't matter, you're all alike!'

There's a few minutes of silence 'I no rike Jews either!' the copilot suddenly announces.

'Oh yeah, why not?' asks the captain.

'Jews sink Titanic.'

'What? That's insane! Jews didn't sink the Titanic!' exclaims the captain, 'It was an iceberg!'

'Iceberg, Goldberg, Greenberg, Rosenberg, ..no mattah... all same!

Hi everyone!

Anyone know of a nice club or hangout in the Toledo area that caters to cross dressing radio operators? I'm a guy from Toledo who enjoys showing a submissive man a good time in every way. I have so many interests that there probably is some broad common ground between myself and about anyone. I love to talk about BDSM issues and interests, and have been generally regarded as a funny guy to hang out with who has a good head on his shoulders. Send me a message for anything else you'd like to know!

I've attatched a link to my picture below, I consider myself a BBW trapped in a mans body and will be dominant to the right gentleman. (ham radio operators move to the front of the line)

Oh so you lied...Then if you are now telling the truth, your house was never set on fire, you were never visited by the authorities over an elder abuse report, your amazon account was never hacked, no credit card numbers were ever stolen, no one called you, your neighbors or family on the phone, you never shot a boy in the back who was trying to tear down some type of antenna support because he was never there, and you weren't just ejected from your post as president of the CCRAA.

So I guess since all the above never happened, you are right, you are untouchable. However, if any of it is true...I suggest you keep your fucking mouth shut and leave others folks alone while you are still ahead.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- Grand Rapids, Michigan -- September 12, 2008 -- El Matador Enterprises, makers of Margaritaville Tortilla Chips is voluntarily recalling 13-ounce bags of Margaritaville Island Lime Tortilla Chips because they may contain undeclared whey in the spice blend.

Wegmans Expands Dates of Bagel Recall and Includes Additional Bakery Products Contact:
Jo Natale
585-429-3627

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- September 11, 2008 -- Rochester, NY - Wegmans Food Markets, Inc. has expanded the voluntary recall of in-store made bagels and bialys first announced on Wednesday, September 10. The recall is now expanded to include Challah bread and in-store baked bagels, bialys and rolls. These products were sold in Wegmans' bakery department between June 19 and September 11, 2008.

The recall was initiated because a mixer part (metal spring) may have entered the dough, which is produced at Wegmans' Central Bakeshop in Rochester, posing a possible choking hazard. The problem was initially discovered as a result of a customer complaint. Further investigation by Wegmans prompted the company to expand the dates and products included in the recall. There have been no reported injuries associated with the consumption of these products. The recalled products are as follows:

(Rolls are sold both individually in bins and pre-packaged)

Wegmans Kaiser Rolls (6-Pack UPC: 77890 28697)
Wegmans Sub Rolls (6-Pack UPC: 77890 58953) (Rolls used in our Old Fashioned Sub Shop are not included.)
Wegmans Old-Fashioned Dinner Rolls (12-Pack UPC: 77890 75813)
Wegmans Wheat Rolls (6-Pack UPC: 77890 82778)
Wegmans Challah Rolls (6-Pack UPC: 77890 85195)
Wegmans Old-Fashioned Vienna Rolls (6-Pack UPC: 77890 12391)
Wegmans Mini Kaiser Rolls (sold individually only) Wegmans Challah Bread (UPC: 77890 91040)
Bagels and Bialys - All varieties sold individually
Bagels sold in six packs - see below

Cinnamon Raisin 77890 62804
Assorted 77890 62807
Plain 77890 62786
Sesame 77890 62795
Honey Wheat 77890 62816

Important: This recall does not affect packaged breads and rolls sold in the commercial bakery section of Wegmans' stores, the area where Wegmans and national brand packaged breads/rolls are sold. It also does not affect Wegmans bagels sold in the dairy or frozen food departments.

The bagels, rolls and bread were sold in Wegmans' stores located in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland. Wegmans estimates that approximately 100,000 cases of bagels, rolls and Challah bread are included in the recall, although the company believes that only a very small percentage could actually be affected.

Customers may return the product to Wegmans for a full refund. Consumers who have questions or concerns about this recall should contact Wegmans Consumer Affairs Department at 585-464-4760 (in Rochester) or toll free at 1 (800) WEGMANS (934-6267) Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Visit www.wegmans.com for a list of all product recalls.

I don't wonder at all, fanboi. You're simple because you think I should be so gullible as to let you know exactly who and where I am, so you can post it all over usenet, and let hams all over my area know on the radio, so you can get someone to come to my place to try some physical intimidation on me, perhaps beat me up or even hospitalise me. That's what you've been trying for years with Mark, after all, and I have little doubt that the kid he shot was doing your dirty work.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless
fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has
been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).

4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

Oh you are gullible if you think that Mark "the kook" Morgan KB9RQZ actually shot an unarmed kid in the back, he would be in jail right now. Or for that matter, if anyone on usenet has ever tried to do anything physical to Mark. I see that Mark has sucked you into his outlandish tall tales and fantasies. What, do you think America is like the old west of the 1800's? ROTFLMFAO

Your real fear is that one of those kooks you enjoy fucking with for

MINUTES OF THE AUGUST 5, 2008 MEETING
Glenn, asked this question of the President. “Mark, in the interest of the CCRAA would you be willing to step down as President of the organization.?” The answer given by Mark was “No!" In view of the “turbulence” that occurred, the Property Chairman’s report did not get read. A motion made by Glenn, and seconded by Roy to “Remove Mark, KB9RQZ from the office of President of the CCRAA” was introduced, and a discussion followed. When it came to a vote, there was one ABSTENTION, one NO vote, 11 YES votes, and the motion carried.

Again congratulations to the CCRAA along with Ham Island.com, and QRZ.com, for taking a stand against a bad ham a abuser of usenet and this group.

A motion made by Glenn, WA8QNF and seconded by Roy, WB8ZYL to "Remove Mark, KB9RQZ from the office of President of the CCRAA" was introduced, and a discussion followed. When it came to a vote, there was one ABSTENTION, one NO vote, (Mark's) and 11 YES votes, and the motion carried.

An 18 year old Jewish girl tells her Mom that she has missed her period for 2 months. Very worried, the mother goes to the drugstore and buys a pregnancy kit. The test result shows that the girl is pregnant.

Shouting and crying, the mother says, "Who was the pig that did this to you? I want to know!"

Without answering, the girl picks up the phone and makes a call. Half an hour later, a Mercedes stops in front of their house. A mature and distinguished man with grey hair and wearing a yarmulke steps out of the car and enters the house.

He sits in the living room with the father, mother, and the girl and tells them, "Good morning. Your daughter has informed me of the problem. I can't marry her because of my personal family situation but I'll take charge. I will pay all costs and provide for your daughter for the rest of her life.

Additionally, if a girl is born, I will bequeath two retail furniture stores, a deli, a condo in Miami , and a $1,000,000 bank account."

"If a boy is born, my legacy will be a chain of jewelry stores and a $25,000,000 bank account.

"However, if there is a miscarriage, I'm not sure what to do. What do you suggest?"

Stunned at this point, the mother, who had remained silent until now, places a hand firmly on the man's shoulder and tells him, "You'll give her another chance, won't you?"

1. So your daughter's a hooker,

4. You've announced that you're gay, won't that be a laugh,

5. Happy Vasectomy!
Hope you feel zippy!
Cause when I had mine
I got real snippy.

6. Heard your wife left you.
How upset you must be.
But don't fret about it.
She moved in with me

7. You totaled your car.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

I ran into Jim at work yesterday. He had been out for a few days with the flu. I asked him how he was feeling.

"I'm better, thanks. You know, it was a wonderful experience."

"Wonderful? How can the flu be wonderful?" I asked in stunned disbelief.

"Well, I learned that my wife really loves me. You know that whenever the mailman came by or a delivery man headed toward the door, my wife ran out to meet them?

Recall -- Firm Press Release
FDA posts press releases and other notices of recalls and market withdrawals from the firms involved as a service to consumers, the media, and other interested parties. FDA does not endorse either the product or the company.

Bimbo Bakeries USA Issues an Allergy Alert on Undeclared Tree Nuts in Oroweat 100% Whole Wheat Bread Packaging
Contact:
David Margulies or Elizabeth Watters
214-368-0909

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- Denver, CO -- September 16, 2008 -- Bimbo Bakeries USA today announced a voluntary recall of Oroweat 100% Whole Wheat bread because it may contain tree nuts that are not listed on the label. Individuals with allergies to tree nuts run the risk of a serious and or life threatening reaction if they consume this product.

The bread was baked at the company's Denver plant and sold at retail locations in five states: Iowa, Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado and New Mexico. There was also very limited distribution in the Moab, Utah area. Areas outside these states are not affected. No other Oroweat products are involved in this recall.

How to Identify the Product

The affected product has red, blue or tan closure tabs with a "Best By" date of 9/22, 9/23 or 9/25 on the tab.

No illnesses have been reported to date. The recall was necessary because Oroweat Health Nut bread was inadvertently placed in Oroweat 100% Whole Wheat bread packaging. The 100% Whole Wheat ingredient legend does not declare tree nuts on the bag.

Consumers who are not allergic to tree nuts can safely consume the product. Consumers can return the product to the store where it was purchased for an exchange or refund.

Any questions about the recall should be directed to a company representative at 877-224-7374.

Soitenly! You are free to display your obsessions to the entire planet for as long as you live. I'm free to mock you until you cry, of course, for being publicly obsessed, but that's a "duh". Snecking AUK from your response, however, was the very paragon of cowardice. If you don't wish to reply to me, then don't, but snecking my primary group when replying is the act of a terrified little coward.

And my legalname's out there on usenet, too, in lists, and subject lines, but you want me to post it for you specifically, to make it easier for you to do the same thing my other fanbois have done. You're "harassed" much like any cowardly pedo who's terrified that the regs of alt.hackers.malicious will go after him -- by your own fears, IOW. You started x-poasting to AUK over two years ago, specifically to get awards for Mark, but only broke even, with a Golden Killfile for him, and a Pathetic Anal Pineapple for the Fan Club. Two years later, you've begun to grasp that AUK is unimpressed with your whines about Mark, and some of his fans are refraining from x-poasting to it, or are setting followups to go only to RRAP, because you're all about harassing Mark, not winning awards from AUK.

Isn't it too bad for you that you're stuck with Google, because your ISP doesn't give a shit about usenet, and you're too cheap to get a real NSP, or too clueless to figure out the operation of a newsreader and how to use a free newsserver?

Oh, is your legalname somehow attached to your nym, or your email? Is it possible for me to figure out who you are without you telling me (and if so, why do you keep denying the name given you by Mark)? Because your lazy arse could find out my personal info, if you felt like it, but I think you'd rather whine about my perceived "hypocrisy". Note that I've mentioned this before, though you refuse to acknowledge it.

Normally, I wouldn't approve, but getting shot -- non-lethally -- while trying to vandalise sounds to me like breaking even.

The lot of you hams are far too cowardly to do anything yourselves. I

Unless they're committing crimes. No one is obliged to tolerate acts of vandalism against their property simply because the vandal is "unarmed".

wounded him, and he rabbited.

LOL! I am so far from being concerned that such a thing might ever happen, I assure you. Not because of any measure of anonymity (both my legalname and my face can be found out), but through the sheer cowardice of my many fanbois, as well as my attitude towards death.

I'm considering nominating teh fanbois for the Special Ops Cody. That's a classic example of the use of rubber hand grenades.

I'll need to check if I've already used up that nom for this month. Only one nom/second per award per usenetter.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

molestation victum and he was told over and over again that I was the molestor of his brother given the MO there I suspect the poor kid is

MINUTES OF THE AUGUST 5, 2008 MEETING
The meeting opened at 7:02 pm EDT with the Secretary (KD8CTL) reading the minutes of the July 1, meeting. (Not reported during the July meeting) They included a report from the Property committee showing that the clubhouse is in good shape, and all systems were working. No other committee reports were available.
Since
there was a health issue with the present Secretary, Gavrielah Hojnacki (KD8CTL) George, W8FWG offered his services to fill in the remainder of her term as "Acting Secretary." This offer was accepted by the existing Secretary, and approved by the President,
with an amendment to serve up to the time of the next election in March of 2009. This was agreed to by George, W8FWG. Self introductions followed, with the following radio
amateurs present at the meeting: KD8CTL, KB9RQZ, N8ZBJ, WA8JSF, W8ERB,
W9VLM, W8ILS, W4KAR, WB8ZYL, WA8QNF, K6IPC, W8DAO, KB8XI and W8FWG. Our President voiced concern of the ongoing uncertainly of the operation of our 146.670 MHz repeater in Herman. George, W8FWG reported for Chuck, WB8FCY, that this property may have already been sold by the DNR, to a radio or TV broadcasting company but that we had no assurance that that had taken place.

George
offered to contact the DNR (a ham in the DNR, whom he knows) to get the latest information on
that site, and to report back to the President of the club, ASAP.
Treasurer's Report: By
Paul, W9VLM, indicated we have received a request from the State of Michigan
regarding our charter and status as a non-profit organization. This means a charge of $20 annually, and the Treasurer was instructed to pay it. At 7:36 pm Gavrielah had to leave suddenly (no reason given) and the roster of those present was turned over to George,
W8FWG. Glenn, WA8QNF asked this question of the President. "Mark, in the interest
of the CCRAA would you be willing to step down as President of the organization.?"
The answer given by Mark was "No!" In view of the "turbulence" that occurred, the Property Chairman's report (W8FWG's report) did not get read, but it is included here as follows: All utilities within the building are operational, and the weekly routines are being kept up, the monthly check of the emergency engine was completed, an additional operating chart was made up and a new antenna tuning guide was added.
The lawn was not mowed, per the President's request, because of his allergy to newly mown grass. The water leak at the roof has been corrected and one problem with a door switch remains and
that should be taken care before the next meeting. Cataloging of the small parts cabinet
continues, and now that we have a new computer this should be completed by year's end..
A motion made by Glenn, WA8QNF and seconded by Roy, WB8ZYL to "Remove Mark, KB9RQZ from the office of President of the CCRAA" was introduced, and
a discussion
followed. When it came to a vote, there was one ABSTENTION, one NO vote, 11 YES
votes, and the motion carried. George, W8FWG, being appointed Acting

Secretary took ending notes. The next meeting of the CCRAA is scheduled to be held at
the Osceola
Clubhouse on September ...

From the current public information statement. Note the open house in October which will include Skywarn training and emergency management vehicles...

... National Weather Service Baltimore/Washington to move next week... The week of September 22nd, NOAA/S National Weather Service (nws) Baltimore/Washington weather forecast office (wfo) located in Sterling, Virginia, will move from its existing location adjacent to Dulles international Airport, to a new location about one-half mile away. This move is necessary in order for the Airport to expand its runway system. During the move week of September 22-26th, the NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO will establish temporary operations at the National Weather Service WFO in State College, Pennsylvania. The temporary operations will be staffed by forecast staff from the NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO. From Monday, September 22 at 8:00 am EDT, through Friday, September 26 at 5:00 PM EDT, NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO staff will be present at three facilities 24x7... the old facility, the new facility, and the NWS State College WFO.All of our operational products during the transition, including forecasts, watches, and warnings, will be issued from NWS State College by NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO staff during the move week. The transition from the old facility to the new facility, and its impact to the public, customers, and partners of the NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO, is planned to be seamless. Phone calls through the move week will still be taken on the old phone numbers at the old facility. New phone numbers will become operational at the new facility during the move week. After our move, our old phone numbers will be shut-down and replaced with a message containing the new numbers to call. All of our contact numbers will change - with the exception of our Skywarn spotter (800) hotline which will remain the same. The new general office phone number at the new facility is:703-996-2200 public line The new office address is:NOAA/National Weather ServiceBaltimore/Washington weather forecast office43858 Weather Service Road Sterling, VA 20166. In recognition of the new facility, the NWS Baltimore/Washington WFO is hosting a public open house on October 18-19, 2008. There will be Tours of the new WFO, demonstrations of the latest technologies and techniques used in creating weather forecasts and warnings, Skywarn spotter training classes, local emergency management Mobile command vehicles, and many more fun and informative things for the entire family. Additionally, on Saturday, October 18 at 1:00 PM, there will be a new facility dedication ceremony. For more information on the open house and dedication ceremony, please see our webpage located at http://www.Weather.Gov/Washington.
If you have any questions, please contact meteorologist-in-charge Jim Lee at 703-260-0107, extension 222, or warning coordination meteorologist Chris strong at 703-260-0107, extension 223.

This reminds me of the legal brief on a robber who sued his victim.
Seems the perpetrator had fell down on a cutting board and knife when he came in through the skylight awkwardly. The suit was about the negligence of the homeowner, who left the knife out on the kitchen counter for the robber to cut himself on as he invaded the home.

True story.

"Replying" to me in a group I don't read is cowardice defined. No doubt his version of "manliness" and "courage" involves a face-to-face, IRL, over words on a screen, because usenet is so important to his real life, and all of his friends, family, and relatives read his group, obviously.

Funny, and here I thought I'd made sure of my typing. Fanboi, if you want "brevity", try Yads. "The Doctor" will be only too happy to give you all the brevity you can stand, plus another decade's worth. Ten thousand posts or more, consisting of a single cryptic line, often badly typo'ed (but properly capitalised!), and meant to be witty but failing utterly.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

...and just in time for the holidays.

THINGS I DIDN'T LEARN IN HEBREW SCHOOL:

1. The High Holidays have absolutely nothing to do with marijuana.

2. Where there's smoke, there may be salmon.

3. No meal is complete without leftovers.

4. According to Jewish dietary law, pork and shellfish may be eaten only in Chinese restaurants.

5. A shmata is a dress that your husband's ex is wearing.

6. You need ten men for a minion, but only four in polyester pants and white shoes for pinochle.

7. One mitzvah can change the world; two will just make you tired.

8. After the destruction of the Second Temple, God created Neiman-Marcus.

9. Anything worth saying is worth repeating a thousand times.

10. Never take a front row seat at a Bris.

11. Next year in Jerusalem. The year after that, how about a nice cruise?

12. Never leave a restaurant empty handed.

13. Spring ahead, fall back, winters in Boca.

14. WASP's leave and never say good bye; Jews say good bye and never leave.

15. Always whisper the names of diseases.

16. If it tastes good, it's probably not kosher.

17. The important Jewish holidays are the ones on which alternate side of the street parking is suspended..

18. Without Jewish mothers, who would need therapy?

19. If you have to ask the price, you can't afford it. But, if you can afford it, make sure to tell everybody what you paid.

20. Laugh now, but one day you'll be driving a Lexus and eating dinner at 4:00 PM in Florida.

SIGNS ON SYNAGOGUE BULLETIN BOARDS:

1. Under same management for over 5763 years.

2. Don't give up. Moses was once a basket case.

3. What part of 'Thou shalt not' don't you understand?

4. Shul committees should be made up of three members, two of whom should be absent at every meeting.

5. Sign over the urinal in a bathroom at Hebrew University: 'The future of the Jewish people is in your hands.'

6. Any time a person goes into a delicatessen and orders a pastrami on white bread, somewhere a Jew dies.

7. It was mealtime during a flight on El Al. 'Would you like dinner?,' the flight attendant asked Moshe, seated in front. 'What are my choices?,' Moshe asked. 'Yes or no' she replied.

8. An elderly Jewish man is knocked down by a car and is brought to the local hospital. A pretty nurse tucks him into bed and says, 'Mr. Cohen, are you comfortable?' Cohen replies, 'I make a nice living....'

9. A rabbi was opening his mail one morning. Taking a single sheet of paper from an envelope he found written on it only one word:
'shmuck.'
At the next Friday night service, the Rabbi announced, 'I have known many people who have written letters and forgot to sign their names, but this week I received a letter from someone who signed his name... and forgot to write a letter.'

10. Three Jewish women get together for lunch. As they are being seated in the restaurant, one takes a deep breath and gives a long, slow 'oy.' The second takes a deep breath as well and lets out a long, slow 'oy.' The third takes a deep breath and says impatiently, 'Girls, I thought we agreed that we weren't going to talk about our children.'

11. And one final favorite: A waiter comes over to a table full of Jewish women and asks, 'Is anything all right?

The Real Culprits In This Meltdown
By INVESTOR'S BUSINESS DAILY | Posted Monday, September 15, 2008 4:20 PM PT

Big Government: Barack Obama and Democrats blame the historic financial turmoil on the market. But if it's dysfunctional, Democrats during the Clinton years are a prime reason for it.

Read More: Business & Regulation

Obama in a statement yesterday blamed the shocking new round of subprime-related bankruptcies on the free-market system, and specifically the "trickle-down" economics of the Bush administration, which he tried to gig opponent John McCain for wanting to extend.

But it was the Clinton administration, obsessed with multiculturalism, that dictated where mortgage lenders could lend, and originally helped create the market for the high-risk subprime loans now infecting like a retrovirus the balance sheets of many of Wall Street's most revered institutions.

Tough new regulations forced lenders into high-risk areas where they had no choice but to lower lending standards to make the loans that sound business practices had previously guarded against making. It was either that or face stiff government penalties.

The untold story in this whole national crisis is that President Clinton put on steroids the Community Redevelopment Act, a well-intended Carter-era law designed to encourage minority homeownership. And in so doing, he helped create the market for the risky subprime loans that he and Democrats now decry as not only greedy but "predatory."

Yes, the market was fueled by greed and overleveraging in the secondary market for subprimes, vis-a-vis mortgaged-backed securities traded on Wall Street. But the seed was planted in the '90s by Clinton and his social engineers. They were the political catalyst behind this slow-motion financial train wreck.

And it was the Clinton administration that mismanaged the quasi-governmental agencies that over the decades have come to manage the real estate market in America.

As soon as Clinton crony Franklin Delano Raines took the helm in 1999 at Fannie Mae, for example, he used it as his personal piggy bank, looting it for a total of almost $100 million in compensation by the time he left in early 2005 under an ethical cloud.

Other Clinton cronies, including Janet Reno aide Jamie Gorelick, padded their pockets to the tune of another $75 million.

Raines was accused of overstating earnings and shifting losses so he and other senior executives could earn big bonuses.

In the end, Fannie had to pay a record $400 million civil fine for SEC and other violations, while also agreeing as part of a settlement to make changes in its accounting procedures and ways of managing risk.

But it was too little, too late. Raines had reportedly steered Fannie Mae business to subprime giant Countrywide Financial, which was saved from bankruptcy by Bank of America.

At the same time, the Clinton administration was pushing Fannie and her brother Freddie Mac to buy more mortgages from low-income households.

The Clinton-era corruption, combined with unprecedented catering to affordable-housing lobbyists, resulted in today's nationalization of both Fannie and Freddie, a move that is expected to cost taxpayers tens of billions of dollars.

And the worst is far from over. By the time it is, we'll all be paying for Clinton's social experiment, one that Obama hopes to trump with a whole new round of meddling in the housing and jobs markets. In fact, the social experiment Obama has planned could dwarf both the Great Society and New Deal in size and scope.

There's a political root cause to this mess that we ignore at our peril. If we blame the wrong culprits, we'll learn the wrong lessons. And taxpayers will be on the hook for even larger bailouts down the road.

But the government-can-do-no-wrong crowd just doesn't get it. They won't acknowledge the law of unintended consequences from well-meaning, if misguided, acts.

Obama and Democrats on the Hill think even more regulation and more interference in the market will solve the problem their policies helped cause. For now, unarmed by the historic record, conventional wisdom is buying into their blame-business-first rhetoric and bigger-government solutions.

While government arguably has a role in helping low-income folks buy a home, Clinton went overboard by strong-arming lenders with tougher and tougher regulations, which only led to lenders taking on hundreds of billions in subprime bilge.

Market failure? Hardly. Once again, this crisis has government's fingerprints all over it.

Y'know, you stand a better chance of winning a Nobel Peace Prize than garnering another award for Mark, and I'll believe you don't care about that when you stop trying to get the attention of kookologists. However, you're quite likely to win awards for the fan club. Indeed, the FNVW will be posting the results of the latest ballot soon, barring further nasty weather from the remains of Hurricane Ike and his cousins, and you guys are up for two or three valuable prizes.

Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

Privilege, Entitlement and the 2008 Election

BuzzFlash, Sat, 09/13/2008 - 3:44pm.

By Tim Wise

For those who still can't grasp the concept of white privilege, or who are constantly looking for some easy-to-understand examples of it, perhaps this list will help.

White privilege is when you can get pregnant at seventeen like Bristol Palin and everyone is quick to insist that your life and that of your family is a personal matter, and that no one has a right to judge you or your parents, because "every family has challenges," even as black and Latino families with similar "challenges" are regularly typified as irresponsible, pathological and arbiters of social decay.

White privilege is when you can call yourself a "fuckin redneck," like Bristol Palin's boyfriend does, and talk about how if anyone messes with you, you'll "kick their fuckin' ass," and talk about how you like to "shoot shit" for fun, and still be viewed as a responsible, all-American boy (and a great son-in-law to be) rather than a thug.

White privilege is when you can attend four different colleges in six years like Sarah Palin did (one of which you basically failed out of, then returned to after making up some coursework at a community college), and no one questions your intelligence or commitment to achievement, whereas a person of color who did this would be viewed as unfit for college, and probably someone who only got in in the first place because of affirmative action.

White privilege is when you can claim that being mayor of a town smaller than most medium-sized colleges, and then Governor of a state with about the same number of people as the lower fifth of the island of Manhattan, makes you ready to potentially be president, and people don't all piss on themselves with laughter, while being a black U.S. Senator, two-term state Senator, and constitutional law scholar, means you're "untested."

White privilege is being able to say that you support the words "under God" in the pledge of allegiance because "if it was good enough for the founding fathers, it's good enough for me," and not be immediately disqualified from holding office--since, after all, the pledge was written in the late 1800s and the "under God" part wasn't added until the 1950s--while believing that reading accused criminals and terrorists their rights (because, ya know, the Constitution, which you used to teach at a prestigious law school requires it), is a dangerous and silly idea only supported by mushy liberals.

White privilege is being able to be a gun enthusiast and not make people immediately scared of you.

White privilege is being able to have a husband who was a member of an extremist political party that wants your state to secede from the Union, and whose motto was "Alaska first," and no one questions your patriotism or that of your family, while if you're black and your spouse merely fails to come to a 9/11 memorial so she can be home with her kids on the first day of school, people immediately think she's being disrespectful.

White privilege is being able to make fun of community organizers and the work they do--like, among other things, fight for the right of women to vote, or for civil rights, or the 8-hour workday, or an end to child labor--and people think you're being pithy and tough, but if you merely question the xperience of a small town mayor and 18-month governor with no foreign policy expertise beyond a class she took in college--you're somehow being mean, or even sexist.

White privilege is being able to convince white women who don't even agree with you on any substantive issue to vote for you and your running mate anyway, because all of a sudden your presence on the ticket has inspired confidence in these same white women, and made them give your party a "second look."

White privilege is being able to fire people who didn't support your political campaigns and not be accused of abusing your power or being a typical politician who engages in favoritism, while being black and merely knowing some folks from the old-line political machines in Chicago means you must be corrupt.

White privilege is being able to attend churches over the years whose pastors say that people who voted for John Kerry or merely criticize George W. Bush are going to hell, and that the U.S. is an explicitly Christian nation and the job of Christians is to bring Christian theological principles into government, and who bring in speakers who say the conflict in the Middle East is God's punishment on Jews for rejecting Jesus, and everyone can still think you're just a good church-going Christian, but if you're black and friends with a black pastor who has noted (as have Colin Powell and the U.S. Department of Defense) that terrorist attacks are often the result of U.S. foreign policy and who talks about the history of racism and its effect on black people, you're an extremist who probably hates America.

White privilege is not knowing what the Bush Doctrine is when asked by a reporter, and then people get angry at the reporter for asking you such a "trick question," while being black and merely refusing to give one-word answers to the queries of Bill O'Reilly means you're dodging the question, or trying to seem overly intellectual and nuanced.

White privilege is being able to claim your experience as a POW has anything at all to do with your fitness for president, while being black and experiencing racism is, as Sarah Palin has referred to it, a "light" burden.

And finally, white privilege is the only thing that could possibly allow someone to become president when he has voted with George W. Bush 90 percent of the time, even as unemployment is skyrocketing, people are losing their homes, inflation is rising, and the U.S. is increasingly isolated from world opinion, just because white voters aren't sure about that whole "change" thing. Ya know, it's just too vague and ill-defined, unlike, say, four more years of the same, which is very concrete and certain.

White privilege is, in short, the problem.

Yes. Us "lucky whites" sure have it made, don't we?
We "get" to provide housing for generations upon generations of career welfare recipients.
We "get" to pay for the 70 to 90% out of wedlock births in the black communities.
We "get" to pay for food stamps, entitlement programs and other free handouts given to the lazy leeches.
We "get" to be victims of street crimes such as muggings, burglaries and carjackings.
We "get" to repaint our buildings to cover the street graffiti that appears weekly.

Oh, the list is endless as we well know.

Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless
fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has
been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

When caught in a lie: LIE!
When in doubt: Order the Crab Won Ton
Plagiarism is your friend. Use it.
Whenever contradicted; morph, start calling people names, and make false accusations. Include the children of your target in your allegations, even if they don't have any.
(06-Jun-05) When nobody else will listen, post to your own fan group.
(06-Jun-05) Obviously, since you have your own fan group, this must mean that you have fans. Post prolifically to your fan group - you wouldn't want to disappoint them!
(10-May-2005)Everyone reads usenet. Approval here means approval everywhere.
Post numerous blank posts, or posts containing only a message id.
Post numerous copy&paste web articles from crackerpot websites.
Never forget to call kookologists "k00ks."
If there are several, call them "sockpuppets" too
When all else fails, accuse various and sundry kookologists of e-mailing viruses to you. This is a sure-fire method of garnering sympathy and ensuring that the General Public will always see things your way. An especially effective sub-strategy here is to accuse them of infecting you with the 'Sasser' worm via e-mail.
Quote notorious scientists or writers - it makes it look as if they approve the drivel you are writing!
(9-Jul-05) Anytime your computer is infected with a virus, bogged down by spyware, attacked over your internet connection, or otherwise suffers from preventable problems, government agencies are responsible and are trying to silence you and are monitoring your computer files.
Ignore all traffic signs and feel free to trespass, you don't have to obey any rules.
Scare your enemies with lawsuits, police escorts and whines.
Always back up your empty (albeit noisy) threats with phony LARTs, false police reports, and harassing letters to the FBI and other gubbermint agencies.
Be vigilant in your redundancy. The more you repeat yourself, the more likely others will believe you!
If you can't find anyone as crazy as yourself to support you in the flamewars you start with the normal population, create sock puppets and use anonymous remailers that shamelessly hang on every word you write.

(17-Mar-05) When dealing with law enforcement, remember that it is they who have the problem, not you. Be sure to inform them of this at every available opportunity, as they will surely appreciate your constructive criticism. Be sure to make them aware that YOU KNOW YOUR RIGHTS! ("The cops like that, when people know their rights. That way they don't have to read them to you on the way to the station." - George Carlin)
The more your fake personalities adulate you, the more respect you'll get!
When confronted with a reality that you don't like: Announce loudly that you are departing, never to return as long as there's an Internet. Come back in three or four days and claim you were drunk, hacked, abducted by alience, or forged. Alternately you can just not even mention your prior departure, and if anyone asks you about it, either ignore them or respond with something along the lines of "YOUR NOT THE BOSS OF ME! PLONK!" People really know you mean business then.
Always remain clueproof.
(20-Mar-05) Anyone who does not believe that you are the reincarnation of [$DEITY_OR_PROPHET] is obviously an infidel lacking in faith whose soul in in peril of everlasting damnation.
When responding to one line challenges, post paragraphs of rants and screed in response.
Incoherency is not a roadblock to poasting.
Neither is illiteracy.
Delusions poasted often enough become fact.
Claim you will destroy <insert newsfroup> for attacking you.
When spnaked, send cmsg for Fanboi newsfroup(s).
Find your Lame, Use your Lame, Be your Lame!
Post Edit when the TRVTH hurts.
Always sneck the offending newsfroups.
Always poast pictures of yourself so you can be admired in all your k00ky glory.
Always accuse others of the very acts you are guilty of.
Post lots of boasts about your high IQ and incredible talents.
(20-Mar-05) If you repeat a lie often enough, it becomes the truth. Anybody who fails to understand this is engaged in a deliberate campaign of misinformation and character assassination.
Always <plonk> somebody just before replying the plonkee!
The k00k considers itself the most intelligent person in any conversation, possibly on the planet. Other people are benighted and ignorant, and have been waiting their whole lives for the k00k to rescue them from intellectual darkness.
Write a self-published book and claim it a success. Bonus points for comparing it to "Mein Kampf" and/or the Bible.
Declare yourself equal to a deity of your choice.
Claim that you've come from other planets.
Claim thousands of past lives.
Frothing complaints carry far more weight when you send them from "legal@" some domain.
Nothing strikes terror into the hearts of your detractors more than telling them that you're archiving their messages for possible use in the future.

Never forget that everyone else posting to Usenet is a paid disinformation agent looking to discredit you.
Usenet is governed by US law. If a poster in Romania killfiles you, he's obviously violating your 1st Amendment rights and can be sued.
Every news admin in the world hangs out in NANAU, and they're just dying to nuke the account of that meanyhead who just called you "fucknozzle". Drop 'em a line - that's what they're there for, after all.
AUK will be closed down. Just you wait and see.
They've nuked hundreds of accounts in the name of free speech and yours will be next.
The k00k will, without any trace of irony, lie, manipulate, impersonate, censor, and declare themselves powerful in ways ranging from the ability to have an account shut down to being God Herself, in order to convince people that they are not liars, manipulators, censors, or insane.
Abuse women while telling how many hundreds you've loved. Nevermind that you're one ugly motherfucker and that there were 30,000 femininas that thought you were a scumbag with bad teeth.
Remember that your ko0ky klaims are 'facts', and that 'facts' do not require proof.
Do not neglect to poast your responses to forums that the originator doesn't read. This will make the people in that forum very impressed with how you tear him to shreds without him being able to respond. They like it even better if you are off-topic for that forum.
Keep in mind that lack of evidence supporting your konspiracy theory actually _is_ evidence, of how effective the konspiracy is in hiding.
(06-Oct-05) When spanked, always retreat to the safety of the Ad Hominem.
(04-Aug-2005) When spanked mercilessly for days on end, proving with each poast just what an illiterate and ignorant fool you are, ALWAYS claim ownership of [person(s),froup(s)]. This works on so many levels. It inspires dread in your opponents that they will no longer be able to poast in their home froup and that they will eventually have to pay rent, to name just two.
Any problems with your poasts are the fault of the konspirators, who are trying to stop you from preventing the extinction of humanity.
Konspiracies that are able to subvert whole governments are always unable to silence konspiracy ko0ks.
The entire United States government is willing to spend millions of dollars for the sole purpose of harassing you.
Hollywood is making movies based on your personal life.
Do not consult psychiatrists or other mental health professionals. They are part of the konspiracy, and will sedate you and lock you away and keep you drugged if you tell them the truth.
Numerology and Astrology are respectable sciences and are useful for proving your case.
Everyone is Tim Hill, or David Green, or...
There is a fine line between trolling and kookery. Find that line and cross it repeatedly. When you are killfiled and/or LARTed for net.abuse as a result, claim victory. If you lose multiple accounts, this merely proves that you are indeed a world-class troll, with a black-belt in manipulation.

If you respond to every post someone else makes, they're obsessed. If they respond to less than 1% of your posts, they're even more obsessed.
Publishing people's real names, addresses, and phone numbers when there's no other way for you to come out of a flamewar with any dignity is cool, and proves that you are a master of secret internet information stores, and absolutely not to be fucked with.
You are the only sane one.
Those that give you a hard time about morally bankrupt things you yourself admit to are just persecutioners of the new inquisition.
Yelling in all caps and cursing at your detractors is debate. Your detractors laughing at you with sarcastic remarks is obvious anger and jealousy.
If doing something results in the loss of your account, legal hassles, or blunt trauma injury, do it again. It always works better the second time.
Asterisks, lots and lots of Asterisks.
Poking holes in kookscreed is stalking, and is a felony.
K00ks LOVE to "connect the dots". They are, of course, dots that only the k00k can see.
"They laughed at Einstein, too!"

...Yes? What gave me away? All the instances of <popesnarky> in my various addresses? The .sigfiles with a unique COOSN in them or in the headers? The "Most Hated Usenetizen of All Time" number? The mhm number?
The fact that practically every single posting profile hails Eris in either the attribution line or the .sig?

Looney Maroon nominee for August 2006 Johnny D Wentzky foamed:
"You never asked someone who goes into areas of the internet that are only for adults who has an underage id somehow or another if they are a cop posing as an underage person online?
I guess lots of people just don't watch dateline or read stories much. Why don;t you go to pervertedjustice,com and see what they do. They are awash in their self-proclaimed glory after they lied to membners of the public.
They are awash in their self-proclaimed glory after they posed as an underage person and agreed to do all sorts of sex acts wioth adult males, and they are adults posing as teenager themselves. They make themsleves into liars by falsely impersonating underage persons and by not fuilfilling the words they tell the victims online in their chats. Why don't you read it where they tell these victims of their deceit about how they have been with grown men and such? Why don't you read it where they say, "That would be cool." after someone makes an advance towards an adult who is posing as a teenager? And, where they agree to meet the person, etc.
Lost control, didn't you?
Is that why you feel as if you need to lie so much now? I see where lots of these false impersonation games are not sticking. They feel as if they can lie and then order the victims to get counseling in the gayblade, governmental, pro-choice tax leech counseling centers. They are doing nothing more than usury and fraud in many cases." -- Wentzky almost comes out of the closet as a pedo/ephebophile in MID: <H%%Eg.28916$Uq1.22411@bignews6.bellsouth.net>

they start to question and analyze every belief that they ever held dear. If a certain belief passes the tests of evidence, deduction, and logic, it should be kept. If it doesn't, the belief should not only be discarded, but

Columbo still scratching his head. Ah . . . Sorry to bother you Mr. Obama, Sir Excuse me Mr. Obama, I mean Senator Obama, sir. Um . . . know you are busy and important and stuff. I mean running for president is very important and . . . ah . . . I hate to bother you. I will only take a minute ok, sir? See, I have these missing pieces that are holding me up, and I was wondering sir, if you could take time out of your busy schedule and help me out. You know, no big deal, just some loose ends and things.

Hey, you have a nice place here! The wife sees houses like this on TV all the time and says boy she wishes she had digs like this you know? Is that painting real? Really? Wow. I saw something like that in a museum once!
Oh, sorry sir. I didn't mean to get off the track. So if you could just help me out a minute and give me some details, I will get right out of your way. I want to close this case and maybe take the wife to Coney Island or something. Ever been to Coney Island? No, I didn't think so. .
Well, listen, anyways, I can't seem to get some information I need to wrap this up. These things seem to either be 'locked' or 'not available'. I'm sure it's just some oversight or glitch or something, so if you could you tell me where these things are . . . I . . . I . . . have them written down here somewhere . . . oh wait. Sorry about the smears. It was raining out. I'll just read it to you.
Could you help me please find these things, sir?

1. Occidental College records -- Not released
2. Columbia College records -- Not released
3. Columbia Thesis paper -- 'not available'
4. Harvard College records -- Not released
5. Selective Service Registration -- Not released
6. Medical records -- Not released
7. Illinois State Senate schedule -- 'not available'
8. Law practice client list -- Not released
9. Certified Copy of original Birth certificate -- Not released
10. Embossed, signed paper Certification of Live Birth -- Not released
11. Harvard Law Review articles published -- None
12. University of Chicago scholarly articles -- None

13. Your Record of baptism-- Not released or 'not available'

14. Your Illinois State Senate records--'not available'

Oh hey . . listen! I know you are busy! Is this too much for you now? I mean tell you what. I will come back tomorrow. Give you some time to get these things together, you know? I mean, I know you are busy, so I will just let myself out. I will be back tomorrow. And the day after.

"Who wants to know these things asked Senator Obama?"

Columbo answered: THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

How many licks of Mark's asshole does it take to get to Mark Morgan's

You are highly delusional as to whom you think I am. Being white doesn't have to mean being an ignorant, racist, homophobic, redneck bigot & wingnut, any more than the reverse does -- they just go together a lot, here in North America.

George Pickett Memorial Award nominee <wfh_jr@hotmail.com> on outing personal contact info in x-poasted subject lines:
"Plenty of people post under their real names and do not attempt to hide their contact info. You are scared of being 'outed' because you are a pathological abuser of usenet, and people rightly despise you for it. You're afraid of being reported to the authorities or, better, visited by a couple of guys with baseball bats. Other people don't have this obsessive fear. Ward Hardman himself has posted plenty of personal information - nothing that anyone else added was hidden in any way. You're so fucking scared you've built up this whole sick mythology about different categories of bad dudes who 'out' scum like you.

"Meanwhile you are the ugliest pigfucker in the universe. You are the coward without ethics. You call me a 'newbie' - ha! what an asshole you are. Those who want to remain anonymous do so. There is absolutely no way you could identify me, not unless you had the sort of subpoena power that only gets turned on for big-time terrorists. That's because I chose to be anonymous. Some people don't. Only really stupid dicks like you choose the sort of semi-anonymity which leaves you in constant fear.

"What a dickless wonder you are 'Snarky' you fat asshole."

"President Bush, for example, made 232 false statements about weapons of mass destruction in Iraq and another 28 false statements about Iraq's links to Al Qaeda. Secretary of State Powell had the second-highest total in the two-year period, with 244 false statements about weapons of mass destruction in Iraq and 10 about Iraq's links to Al Qaeda. Rumsfeld and Fleischer each made 109 false statements, followed by Wolfowitz (with 85), Rice (with 56), Cheney (with 48), and McClellan (with 14)."

Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

You _really_ don't understand how this works, do you? One doesn't "own" another poster by pretending to be them -- one pokes them that way. You, however, haven't been "poking" Mark in years, but obsessing over him, because you can't get over ancient history about the Morse code issue. The typo/spelling/dyslexia/tard/gay/bi/trans/Jew lames are mere distractions and diversions from your real source of psychotic rage, which is that someone who embodies everything you hate and fear about yourself helped accomplish something you didn't want to happen. You are clearly a wingnut, probably voted for Bush twice, most likely intend to vote McCain, and are quite happy with the idea of yours becoming a fascist nation under Palin. Should Obama win, I shall enjoy your years of screaming in fury.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless
fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has
been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.

3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

You betcha.

Here's a whole heap of 'em.

Great Jewish Rock Stars

From: Seth Rogovoy <rogovoy...>
Subject: Great Jewish Rock Stars
Date: Mon 19 May 1997 01.11 (GMT)

Here is a list I have been compiling. Your comments, additions and emendations are welcome. Please respect my copyright and make fair use of this list only.

"GREAT JEWISH ROCK STARS"

Note that the title of this list is in quotes. Each word in the title should be considered to be in quotations, as each term is meant loosely.
In other words, "great" doesn't really mean "great" and "rock star" doesn't really mean "rock star."

As for "Jewish," the criteria for this list is that the person is known to have Jewish ancestry.

In the cases of bands, some or all of the key members need to be Jewish in order for the band to be considered "Jewish." Near the end of the list is a section reserved for Jewish musicians in prominent, mostly non-Jewish bands.

Bob Dylan

Robbie Robertson: solo artist, founding member and guitarist of The Band. It is not common knowledge that Robertson's natural father was Jewish. Robertson's mother was of native ancestry.

Phish

George Gershwin

Dire Straits: Mark Knopfler

Peter Himmelman: Peter is probably the only Torah-observant Jew in rock music. For those who don't know, he is married to a daughter of Bob Dylan.

Jorma Kaukonen (Hot Tuna, Jefferson Airplane): It is not commonly known that Jorma's mother is Jewish. He told me himself, and also spoke of spending a lot of time as a youngster with his Jewish maternal grandparents.

Herb Alpert

Jennifer Trynin: Boston-based alternative-rock chick.

Kenny G

Paul Desmond: well-known clarinetist/Dave Brubeck sideman. Wrote Brubeck hit "Take Five"
